Allies Use Spoiling Attacks To Block Reds Near Saigon

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three men who received the heart and kidneys of a 25-year-old Arkansas woman in a series of transplant operations at the Cleveland Clinic were all reported in satisfactory condition today.

A team of four surgeons and 10 assistants headed by Dr. Donald B. Effler transplanted the heart of Barbara Smith to Delbert H. Lawson Sr., 50, of Akron.

Immediately after the heart operation Wednesday another team of surgeons transplanted Mrs. Smith's kidneys to Robert Clapper, 29, Minerva, and Charles Mundy, 21, of Detroit, Mich.

The heart transplant was the first in the Midwest and the world's 40th.

Clinic officials refused to release details of the operations.

Mrs. Smith, a divorcee with one child, worked as a waitress at a truck stop in Walnut Ridge, Ark.

Sunday she hitched a lift with truck driver James Welch, 36, of Houston, Tex.

She suffered extensive head injuries Monday when the tractor-trailer Welch was driving from Houston to Toronto overturned in Cleveland.

Mrs. Smith died Wednesday at the clinic.

Permission for the transplant was given by Mrs. Smith's sister, Thelma Elliott. Her parents Mr. and Mrs. Willie Lancaster, also gave their permission when they arrived at the clinic from their home in Lake Village, Ark.

U.S. May Open Door for Czechs Seeking New Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may open the door to Czechs who would rather live here than under renewed Soviet domination, authoritative sources said today.

This was one of several responses to the continuing Soviet armored presence in Czechoslovakia discussed at a hush-hush session of the National Security Council Wednesday night.

Another possibility discussed was a joint pledge with NATO allies that no reductions would be made from the present troop levels in Europe.

It was understood that the council, made up of President Johnson and his top military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers, reached no decisions, but prepared recommendations for a Cabinet meeting today.

Should the United States issue a statement promising extra quota refugee status for Czech citizens, it would parallel action taken after the 1956 Hungarian uprising. More than 30,000 refugee cases were handled then.

For the time being, this appears to be a symbolic gesture. Few Czechs have asked U.S. consuls for asylum.

LBJ Popularity At Record-Low

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Johnson's popularity among Americans has hit a record low, according to the Gallup Poll.

A nationwide survey shows that only 35 per cent of those questioned approved of the way the President is performing his job, the poll said Wednesday. Some 52 per cent disapproved.

President Johnson's previous low in popularity was 36 per cent last March, just before he said he was limiting bombing of North Vietnam and would not seek re-election.

Presidential Panel Probes City Rioting

Chicago, Miami And Cleveland Outbreaks Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The furor ignited by street demonstrations and police tactics at the Democratic convention has swirled into Congress and prompted an investigation by a presidential advisory panel.

The investigation, third started in two weeks, was announced Wednesday by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, chairman of a violence study task force named by President Johnson after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley started probes earlier.

Eisenhower said his panel will also study July's gunbattle between police and black militants in Cleveland and, possibly, the rioting in a Miami Negro neighborhood during the Republican convention.

The Chicago demonstrations, police countermeasures and news reporting sparked a congressional floor debate Wednesday that pitted Ohio's two Democratic senators against each other.

The state's junior senator, Sen. Stephen M. Young, said, "The security arrangements for the Democratic convention turned out to be a disaster and a disgrace."

"Democracy was clubbed to death by Mayor Daley's police," he added.

But most congressmen sided with Ohio's Sen. Frank J. Lausche, who said he's sick and tired of reading that violent demonstrations are the consequence of police brutality.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., described the demonstrators as a "bunch of troublemakers."

"The mob included some of the most dedicated Communists and conspirators in America," he added.

Chicago Democratic Rep. Roman C. Pucinski accused newsmen of doing "an outrageous, unfair job" of covering the demonstrations.

"I don't understand what makes the media so squeamish" about showing provocative actions by the crowd, said Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio. "Let the American people know what kind of trash, bums they are."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has reaffirmed his intention to vote for Abe Fortas, but stopped short of saying he will actively push for Senate approval of President Johnson's nominee to be chief justice.

"Are you going to take an active part in fighting for confirmation?" Dirksen was asked Wednesday.

"Well, I'm going to vote for him," he said.

Dirksen commented as Congress reconvened after a month-long recess and spent most of the first day grumbling over the electoral system, suggesting ways to change it but doing little substance about anything.

New Asian Flu Strain Seen in U.S.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A new strain of Asian influenza may mean an extensive outbreak in the United States this fall and winter, according to the Public Health Service Advisory Committee.

The committee said there is no specific vaccine available for the new strain, called "A2-Hong Kong-68."

The announcement of the possibility of a new outbreak came Wednesday, as the committee revised the more cheerful earlier report of July.

The earlier statement suggested there would be little outbreak, but came before the outbreak of the new strain in Hong Kong.

The Hong Kong strain emerging in July shows a marked change from previous strains, the committee reported, after meeting in all-day session at the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta.

A spokesman said the current vaccine for A2 may still be partially effective, but no specific vaccine against the new strain will be available for three to six months.

Cincy Workers Off Job Again

CINCINNATI (AP) — Several hundred union workers have walked off their jobs at the Cincinnati Riverfront Sports Stadium project, a carpenters union representative reported today.

The union official said the men belonging to different local craftsmen unions walked off Wednesday afternoon in a dispute over safety and hygiene conditions.

Stadium construction was first delayed by a dispute over public financing by revenue bonds. Then a strike by all of the local craftsmen unions halted complete work for 86 days.

France To Test Nuclear Device

PARIS (AP) — France has issued a new warning to airlines and shipping companies to remain away from its nuclear testing zone in the area of the island of Mururoa in the South Pacific.

The warning, which takes effect Sunday, indicates that France will make a new test of an atomic or hydrogen device. France exploded its first thermonuclear device Aug. 24.

Nixon, in Chicago, Refuses To Discuss Disturbances

Democratic candidate Hubert H. Humphrey's campaign manager, meanwhile, predicted the presidential contest will be "a close struggle that will go to the wire."

But the campaign manager, Lawrence F. O'Brien, said in Washington the vice president is getting "a depth of support that few people would have envisioned two weeks ago."

Telephoned and telegraphed offers of support have been pouring in, O'Brien said. He said there is "a great deal of support for the vice president by people who have never before been active in politics."

Humphrey begins his presidential drive Monday with stops planned at Philadelphia, Denver and Los Angeles.

Crowds estimated at from 250,000 to 400,000 crowded streets along Nixon's two-mile motorcade through the Chicago Loop area Wednesday and tons of confetti rained down from buildings.

Nixon told television panelists that U.S. choices in responding to Soviet actions in Czechoslovakia and eastern Europe are limited and world conflict should not be risked.

"I can say here that the U.S. can march and help them," he said. "But if we were to do that, it would mean risking a world conflict. I do not think any of us

Cooler Air Chills Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pre-season outbreak of autumn weather chilled a large part of the midcontinent today and pushed a wave of falling temperatures eastward into the Great Lakes region.

The mercury settled into the 30s and 40s from the northern and central Rockies to northern cooled down to 36 shortly after midnight.

Thundershowers erupting along the boundary between the cool air and warm and humid conditions to the east spilled up to an inch of rain on portions of the western Great Lakes during the night.

Heavier rains scattered across the south soaked parts of Texas, Alabama and Louisiana with 2-inch downpours.

Except for occasional breaks in the clouds, clear skies were limited to the far West and sections of the Southeast. Fog blanketed portions of northern New England before daybreak.

17 Defectors Go to Sweden

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Another 17 deserters who have defected from U.S. military service have received asylum in Sweden "for humanitarian reasons," the Swedish Aliens Commission announced today.

A spokesman said that 136 deserters so far have reported to Swedish authorities and 102 have been allowed to stay. Fifteen of these have left Sweden.

The new group given asylum was reported by the commission to include Jerome Phillips, born Sept. 26, 1943, now of Springfield, Ohio.

U.S. Losses Mount; 408 Killed in Week

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces launched air and ground assaults today to block Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops moving toward Saigon from the north and northwest.

But U.S. intelligence officers said the earliest the enemy could attack the capital was Sept. 15, and that any plans to attack may depend on success against allied troops in the outlying areas.

The U.S. Command announced that American combat casualties last week were the highest in the last three months. The command said 408 Americans were killed in action and another 2,513 were wounded in the second week of heavy fighting after a two-month lull in the ground war.

South Vietnamese rangers repulsed an enemy force only 2 1/2 miles southwest of Saigon Wednesday in the biggest outbreak of fighting near the capital since enemy troops battled their way into the city in May and June.

Vietnamese headquarters said seven rangers were killed and 17 wounded, and 31 enemy bodies were counted on the battlefield.

The attackers were believed part of a large reconnaissance force probing for weak points in Saigon's defenses. Another enemy unit about a mile away fired eight mortar shells at government rangers and wounded five, a South Vietnamese spokesman said.

More than 2,000 American and South Vietnamese infantrymen launched a drive early today into the Boi Loi Woods, 30 miles northwest of Saigon, where a former enemy base camp has been leveled by bulldozers and saturation bombing raids. First reports said there was no contact with the enemy.

Soviets Still Unwelcome In Prague

PRAGUE (AP) — Soviet commanders today delayed resumption of domestic flights in Czechoslovakia amid new signs that the public is unyielding in its stand against the occupation.

The government airline CSA had been promised by local Soviet authorities that flights between Prague and the Slovak capital of Bratislava could be resumed shortly after dawn today, but airline officials said the Soviets suddenly rescinded their permit. They hoped the first plane could leave later this week.

Bratislava as well as 13 district towns in western Slovakia were reported still occupied by Soviet troops.

They also gave no indication of moving out of Prague.

Prace, the trade union newspaper, said the local Soviet commander in Bratislava still had his headquarters in the castle, a symbol of Slovak nationalism.

The newspaper also reported that residents of the Ostrava industrial region have prepared a special election to replace Dr. Kolder, an ex-member of the Communist party presidium who is accused of collaborating with the Soviets, in the National Assembly.

CLARKSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Bobby is a nearly full-grown two-point buck that roams the woods and fields near Peter Bolc's 200-acre dairy farm during the day, then in the evening, Bolc says. "He comes right into the house."

"If my kids are watching television, he'll lie right on the floor with them. Sometimes he'll get upstairs and, if we are eating in the kitchen, he'll come in there," Bolc says.

"If the front door is closed, he'll go into the cellar and come up that way."

Bolc says he found Bobby about 18 months ago when he was a fawn. He was sick and apparently abandoned by his mother. Bolc, his wife and two children nursed Bobby back to health and released him, but "he just hung around," said Bolc. "He's stayed here ever since."

Bolc now wants to buy Bobby from the state of Pennsylvania to protect him during hunting season, but, he said, state officials couldn't believe the animal was not penned up and have given him no answer on his purchase offer.

Mrs. Smith died Wednesday at the clinic.

Permission for the transplant was given by Mrs. Smith's sister, Thelma Elliott. Her parents Mr. and Mrs. Willie Lancaster, also gave their permission when they arrived at the clinic from their home in Lake Village, Ark.

Lawson, a freight checker for a truck firm in Akron until he suffered a heart attack last October, had been hoping to have a transplant for several months.

His 16-year-old daughter Synthia said her father told her: "When I get my new heart I'm going to go back to work. I'll run to work and run back."

Lawson's wife, Leona, 47, and a son, John, 22, were at the clinic when the operation was performed. The couple have three other children.

Mrs. Paul Mundy, mother of one of the kidney recipients, said her son had been waiting since January for a transplant. "He became ill while in the Air Force," Mrs. Mundy said. "The operation was his last chance." Mundy received a medical discharge from the Air Force.

Mrs. Clapper said her husband moved to Cleveland in November and had been living in an apartment near the clinic waiting for his operation. "I'm sorry Mrs. Smith died," Mrs. Clapper said. "But I'm very happy my husband has been given this chance to live."

American consuls in Europe already have been instructed to handle Czech requests under the clause of the Immigration and Naturalization Act which authorizes the government to grant residence status to refugees of communism.

The Security Council meeting is understood to have discussed the whole range of problems, military and political, created by the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Officials were ordered not to discuss the meeting.

The administration is understood to be cool toward congressional suggestions to punish the Soviet aggression by curtailing diplomatic, trade and cultural contacts with Moscow.

Dirksen commented as Congress reconvened after a month-long recess and spent most of the first day grumbling over the electoral system, suggesting ways to change it but doing little substance about anything.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, where the Fortas nomination has been bottled up, had been scheduled to meet on the matter.

But Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., taking the opportunity to declare his suspected opposition to Fortas for the first time, put off the session indefinitely when a quorum failed to appear.

All of the other members opposed to Fortas' nomination to succeed Earl Warren stayed away as well as a few supporters.

Whether by accident or design, absence of the opposition seemed to indicate that its chief weapon—delaying tactics—gathered no rust during the August recess.

An aborted Judiciary meeting and lack of significant accomplishments by Congress on its first day back were not promising for a mid-October adjournment urged by leaders.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said that if Congress didn't get through the backlog—which includes the Fortas nomination, nuclear nonproliferation treaty, gun controls, major appropriations, and extension of the farm program—it probably will have to recess and come back after the November elections.

The first day's doings on Capitol Hill included a lot of criticism of the convention system of selecting national candidates, introduction of one bill to reform the system and promise of more to come.

The Senate debated an $18.5 billion money bill to finance the departments of Health, Education and Welfare, and Labor.

The House passed a bill to let employees contribute to trust funds for scholarships or child care centers for their employees, then talked about the Manpower Development and Training Act.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Johnson's popularity among Americans has hit a record low, according to the Gallup Poll.

A nationwide survey shows that only 35 per cent of those questioned approved of the way the President is performing his job, the poll said Wednesday. Some 52 per cent disapproved.

President Johnson's previous low in popularity was 36 per cent last March, just before he said he was limiting bombing of North Vietnam and would not seek re-election.

Nixon, in Chicago, Refuses To Discuss Disturbances

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon is off and running in his bid for the presidency after a campaign kickoff in Chicago that drew thousands and jammed streets.

Nixon refused during a whirlwind tour of Chicago Wednesday to comment on the bloody protest disorders there last week. He said it is best to leave conclusions to investigations already underway.

"I think political figures should not make partisan comments," Nixon said on a question-and-answer television program. "I'm not going to get into it."

Democratic candidate Hubert H. Humphrey's campaign manager, meanwhile, predicted the presidential contest will be "a close struggle that will go to the wire."

But the campaign manager, Lawrence F. O'Brien, said in Washington the vice president is getting "a depth of support that few people would have envisioned two weeks ago."

Telephoned and telegraphed offers of support have been pouring in, O'Brien said. He said there is "a great deal of support for the vice president by people who have never before been active in politics."

Humphrey begins his presidential drive Monday with stops planned at Philadelphia, Denver and Los Angeles.

Crowds estimated at from 250,000 to 400,000 crowded streets along Nixon's two-mile motorcade through the Chicago Loop area Wednesday and tons of confetti rained down from buildings.

Nixon told television panelists that U.S. choices in responding to Soviet actions in Czechoslovakia and eastern Europe are limited and world conflict should not be risked.

"I can say here that the U.S. can march and help them," he said. "But if we were to do that, it would mean risking a world conflict. I do not think any of us want that because it would mean the destruction of those countries, too."

Nixon's running mate, Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, also campaigned Wednesday, said the Nixon-Agnew stand on the law and order issue differs from those of both Humphrey and third party candidate George C. Wallace.

"George Wallace uses the words as a hatchet," Agnew said in Oshkosh, Wis. "We know that. We can sense that. Hubert Humphrey uses the words as a shield against critics of the sluggish administration of which he is a part. Richard Nixon uses the term as a pledge . . . as a commitment to America."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, kicks off his campaign Sunday with what is billed as a major address at San Antonio's HemisFair in Texas.

American Independent party candidate Wallace plans to resume campaigning Tuesday after time out in Miami for rest and speech writing.

In other political developments: —Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy will go on Minnesota's ballot as a presidential candidate and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay as a vice presidential candidate if a group of University of Minnesota law students have their way.

The students, who backed McCarthy for the Democratic nomination, say they have more than the 2,000 petition signatures needed to get the McCarthy-Lindsay ticket on the ballot. State officials say they see no legal roadblocks.

—The state committee of New York's Liberal party called by resolution Wednesday for an immediate halt to the bombing of North Vietnam and then endorsed Humphrey for president.

Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, who was a McCarthy backer has volunteered in a telegram to Humphrey to "undertake whatever task you may wish to assign me" in the presidential campaign.

PROGRESS came to Hargus Lake over the weekend when workmen cut down about a dozen trees near the dam site parking lot. Reason for the work was to enhance the view of the valley from the lot. Among the trees cut down were an odd assortment of wild fruit trees, a few scrub trees and three cedars estimated by a frail elderly lady at over 100 years old. Sitting in a faded blue sun bonnet she patiently counted the rings of the old cedar, which had been knarled and twisted by time and wind. The trees had been used for sketches by her and other county artists several times in the past she stated. "I suppose its progress" she remarked as she looked into the pink sunset over the now barren hilltop and then rose, picked up her time-worn wicker basket and silently walked away.

Red China Raps Soviet Provocations

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China charged today that Soviet troops stepped up "provocations" against the Chinese Embassy in Prague and threatened the safety of embassy personnel.

Radio Peking, monitored in Tokyo, said the Chinese Foreign Ministry delivered a note of protest against the "provocation" to the Soviet charge d'affaires in Peking.

The note said Soviet troops have strengthened encirclement around the Embassy and have been obstructing normal duties by questioning persons who called at the Embassy.

Communist China has lashed out at Soviet military action against Czechoslovakia and delivered a similar protest after Soviet troops began occupying the country last month. The protest note demanded the Soviet Union immediately withdraw its troops around the embassy and end provocations against it.

Viet Reds Use Crude Rocket

Ordnance Men Recover Dud

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong's newest secret weapon is a fearsome homemade contraption called the trashcan rocket. Built in a secret workshop in the Mekong Delta by someone the American ordnance men call the Doc, the rocket packs a powerful 220-pound warhead and its mission is to blow up allied ships on the river channel to Saigon.

It is a cumbersome, makeshift weapon, but American experts say it is effective at short ranges.

One of the rockets has been found intact. Others are believed under construction, and U.S. troops are looking for the Viet Cong "rocket research" shop in the delta southeast of Saigon.

The rocket that was recovered was fired July 29 at an American ship coming up the river about 16 miles below Saigon. Startled sailors watched the flame trail flash past their ship and reported approximately where the rocket landed. It did not explode.

Searching at low tide, Navy WO Robert Lutze, of Ewa Beach, Hawaii found the strange rocket buried in the mud. About 1,000 yards away his team found the low wooden rack from which it had been fired.

Using a standard Russian 122mm rocket charge for a propellant, the Viet Cong rocket shop had added a crude tail-ring fin for guidance and a warhead made of old metal shrapnel shaped to penetrate the steel sides of ships. The warhead was about 16 inches in diameter, and the whole rocket was almost 7 feet long.

The experts say the rocket's maximum range is probably no more than a thousand yards, and that it was designed for close-in firing at ships.

Plan Is Pushed For Crime Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposed plan for the state to participate in the federal safe streets and crime control act was recommended today by the executive committee of the Ohio Crime Commission.

The plan calls for a statewide communications and data processing center, a police academy, regional crime laboratories, continuance of the crime commission and specific police training courses in state universities.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, commission chairman, said he hoped to have a comprehensive state plan by December.

Black Walnut Tree May Be Facing Extinction in U.S.

By GROVER BRINKMAN
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

The walnut tree, in much of the central United States, is still big business. Demand for it has jumped to nearly 40 million board feet yearly. But cutting trees at this rate might soon put the black walnut in the class with our passenger pigeon — extinct.

Foresters insist that the walnut tree cutting pace is now so swift that if it continues at the present rate, the supply of even low quality logs won't last another five years. Choice lots are nearing exhaustion now.

What has caused it all? First, the walnut is famed for its matchless beauty of grain, its durability. It is known as "prestige wood" in the lumber trade.

For cabinetry, furniture, paneling, architectural uses, novelties — not to mention the military use of it for gunstocks — it is the most sought-after wood in any section of the U.S.

The high prices of walnut lumber has also put a shyster into the field, the itinerant logger who virtually steals the trees and later sells them at enormous profit.

State foresters men will cite incidents where these men have paid farmers minimal sums for timber rights, purchasing forest studded with walnut that brought them as much as 250 per cent profit on their investment.

Seriousness of the plight of the walnut industry may well be imagined from the new standards of the U. S. Commerce Department concerning thickness of walnut veneer. The veneer may now be trimmed to a thickness of 1-56th of an inch. Formerly it was 1-28th of an inch minimum. So today, if you purchase high-priced walnut furniture, you're actually getting a walnut covering over cheap base wood no thicker than a slice of chipped beef.

During the last decade, men roamed the timber belts posing as government buyers, searching for walnut. When they found a good stand, they made an offer, claiming the armed forces needed the trees for gunstocks. They even condemned trees for this purpose, until the FBI broke up the movement.

Today a fully matured veneer-quality walnut tree brings prices that are often amazing. One would think that reseedling would be popular, on the premise of later profit. But the rub is simple: it takes a walnut tree 40 years to mature. So unless you're young in years, you won't see the profit.

Today, sizeable walnut forests still remaining have dwindled down to a handful of states, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio predominating.

The walnut tree, its value recognized long years ago, as early as the 17th century, was an article of export to England. Once an abundant tree and constituting a considerable portion of large tracts of forest, particularly in the Mississippi Basin, its valuable wood has caused its almost complete destruction today.

If you are the owner of walnut trees today, and you are made an offer for them, it might first be wise to call your state forester, and have the trees appraised. You might be surprised at the worth of a single giant.

However, if you live in an urban community and have a walnut tree on the back lot, don't try to sell it. Through the years the kids have driven nails into it, and metal and high-speed saws don't mix. So lumber scouts usually pass up back yard walnuts for this reason.

Even a walnut stump has value today, for some of the finest wood-grain is found in the stump.

Sisters Injured In Bicycle Mishap

A car and bicycle collision injured two sisters on State Route 159 in Fairfield County Thursday.

Receiving emergency care at Berger Hospital for multiple contusions were Tina Liming 10, and Donna Liming, 12, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Liming of Route 2, Amanda.

NUTS — These aren't baseballs adorning this tree's limbs — they're black walnuts nearing maturity. The nuts are not valuable — but the tree is truly "prestige wood," valued at $150 to $500 on the stump when matured.

Labor Hands Big Rebuff To Wilson

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Organized labor today handed a stinging rebuff to Prime Minister Harold Wilson by voting overwhelmingly against his efforts to curb wage and price increases, the core of his Labor regime's drive for national solvency.

Delegates to the 100th annual convention of the Trades Union Congress then approved by the narrow margin of 34,000 votes out of 8,500,000 cast the TUC's own policy of voluntary restraint in wage claims. This policy had been approved in February with a majority of 500,000.

The vote demanding that the government repeal legislation permitting it to curb wages by law was approved by 7,746,000 to 1,022,000.

The TUC ballot served as a warning to the government to expect tougher opposition to the government's efforts to hold wage raises to 3 1/2 per cent in any 12-month period.

It also is expected to strengthen the determination of unions in the heavy machinery industry to go ahead with a national strike called for Sept. 23.

City Police Seek Hit-Skip Driver

Police are investigating a hit-skip accident which damaged two parked cars 11:55 p.m. Wednesday on S. Pickaway St.

The damaged vehicles are owned by Gene Rase, 956 S. Pickaway St., and George Morris, 958 S. Pickaway St. Damage was done to the left sides of both cars.

Witnesses said the car that struck the other two and left the scene is a 1965 white Ford station wagon.

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP) — The Army is waging a defoliation campaign against Flower Power car stickers on the Ft. Carson reservation.

The adhesive-backed plastic or paper flower stickers have got to go under terms of a recent order, military police said. Psychedelic paint jobs also are taboo. But racing stripes are permitted.

Women Protest Lack of Water

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — Hundreds of women and children lay across the streets and erected barricades of stone and wood Wednesday to protest a water shortage in Palermo.

The demonstrators moved only after firemen drove out in the evening with water trucks.

Palermo authorities cut water distribution this summer to seven hours a day—between 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. They said a new aqueduct and a larger pipeline will soon boost distribution to 16 hours daily.

Demonstrators who blocked traffic in the suburbs of San Lorenzo for most of the day claimed the water didn't run when it was supposed to.

4 Crewmen Hurt As Trains Crash

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — Four crewmen were injured, none seriously, today in a collision of two Baltimore and Ohio freight trains just east of Chippewa Lake.

Released after treatment at Medina Hospital were Al Irwin, 20, Lorain; John W. Johnson, 46, New Castle, Pa.; Paul Megols, 23, Barberton, and Lewis Lakos, 28, Cuyahoga Falls.

A railroad spokesman in Akron said the trains sideswiped as the westbound train was transferring to another track at a junction point.

Two diesel units and nine empty cars of the eastbound train were derailed by the crash. Five cars, three of them loaded, and the caboose of the westbound train were derailed.

State Closes Out Books On Old Debt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger Cloud reported today that the state has closed its book on an antique procedure—the irreducible debt embracing $10.4 million—a debt the law wouldn't allow the state to pay off for 183 years.

Cloud presented to three state-supported universities checks representing their respective endowment shares in the so-called irreducible debt which accumulated over the years.

Ohio State University received a check for $4,764,460 representing gifts and endowments on which the state has been paying interest.

Ohio University and Miami University received $733,592 and $700,745, respectively. The total interest has amounted to more than $600,000 a year recently.

Balance of the debt, amounting to $4,268,779, consisted of school and ministerial funds derived from sale of surplus lands originally set aside for school and religious purposes.

Early this year Congress repealed three congressional acts dating back to 1785, reserving the school and ministerial lands. This was followed by favorable action on the Ohio General Assembly and Ohio voters who authorized liquidation of the debt.

Cloud said that since the congressional action gave Ohio a free hand in disposition of the lands, he would recommend to the next General Assembly that these funds be used to support vocational schools.

Cal Tech Wins Race Over MIT

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Great Electric Car Race has ended with the California Institute of Technology entry the winner by a wire-thin margin.

The judges in the cross-country race, the editors of Machine Design magazine, met nearly 10 hours Wednesday before awarding first place to Caltech's battery-powered Volkswagen Microbus.

Clare Wise, one of the judges, said Caltech's car with a correct elapsed time of 210.3 hours was 30 minutes ahead of the converted Chevrolet Convair driven by students from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Both cars will be exhibited at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. The MIT car was flown there by the Air Force.

The race began at noon, Aug. 26. Both cars traveled the same 3,300-mile route, but in opposite directions.

The Caltech car arrived at the MIT campus in Cambridge, Mass., at 7:46 a.m. Wednesday. MIT's entry arrived at the Pasadena, Calif., campus of Caltech at 6:27 p.m. Monday.

Penalties were assessed for such things as towing. Wise said the MIT car was towed several times including the last 130 miles after its motor burned out.

The MIT car had a $20,000 nickel cadmium battery. Caltech's car was powered by 20 lead cobalt batteries costing $600. Both cars used direct current traction motors.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark says federal agents arrested 48 known or suspected Mafia figures in fiscal 1968 and won convictions of 281 racketeers and gamblers.

In an annual report released Wednesday, he called it "the most effective year in the history of general law enforcement's effort to eliminate organized crime."

He said a record 1,166 indictments were obtained by the Justice Department against organized criminals during the year compared to 19 in 1960.

The report said 1,700 people were convicted of federal drug violations, 69 clandestine drug laboratories were seized and 327,750 grams of illegal narcotics confiscated by federal agents.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Alabama congressman says the captive U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its 32-man crew may be released by North Korea on Sunday.

Rep. William L. Dickinson, R-Ala., said reliable sources had informed him the release might coincide with the anniversary Sunday of the founding of the People's Republic of North Korea.

Dickinson, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, did not disclose the source of his information. But he said original intelligence estimates indicating the ship would be released after a thorough study of its electronic equipment appeared to be correct.

Stock Rally Gains Power
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rally gathered momentum and breadth early this afternoon in active trading.

Advances outstripped declines by about 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.5 to 236.8, with industrials up 1.8, rails up 1.4, and utilities up .3.

Some of the blue-chip leaders of the Wednesday advance faltered, but others continued making progress. Meanwhile, a number of secondary issues came to the fore as trading favorites.

Motors put on a strong performance, following news that sales of U.S.-made cars rose to a record in August. Some of the chemicals and aluminum continued to move ahead.

At the start, volume was running at least a million shares ahead of Wednesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.47 at 911.42.

The average was making good progress above the "magic" 900 before touching this year's closing high of 923.72 reached July 15.

Livingston Oil, a fractional gainer, was the volume pace-maker.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was heavier than Wednesday.

The protest note demanded the Soviet Union immediately withdraw its troops around the embassy and end provocations against it.

Viet Reds Use Crude Rocket

Ordinance Men Recover Dud

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong's newest secret weapon is a fearsome homemade contraption called the trashcan rocket. Built in a secret workshop in the Mekong Delta by someone American ordinance men call the Doc, the rocket packs a powerful 220-pound warhead and its mission is to blow up allied ships on the river channel to Saigon.

It is a cumbersome, makeshift weapon, but American experts say it is effective at short ranges.

One of the rockets has been found intact. Others are believed under construction, and U.S. troops are looking for the Viet Cong "rocket research" shop in the delta southeast of Saigon.

The rocket that was recovered was fired July 29 at an American ship coming up the river about 16 miles below Saigon. Startled sailors watched the flame trail flash past their ship and reported approximately where the rocket landed. It did not explode.

Searching at low tide, Navy WO Robert Lutze, of Ewa Beach, Hawaii found the strange rocket buried in the mud. About 1,000 yards away his team found the low wooden rack from which it had been fired.

Using a standard Russian 122mm rocket charge for a propellant, the Viet Cong rocket shop had added a crude tail-firing fin for guidance and a warhead made of old metal sheeting shaped to penetrate the steel sides of ships. The warhead was about 16 inches in diameter, and the whole rocket was almost 7 feet long.

The experts say the rocket's maximum range is probably no more than a thousand yards, and that it was designed for "close-in firing at ships."

Plan Is Pushed For Crime Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposed plan for the state to participate in the federal safe streets and crime control act was recommended today by the executive committee of the Ohio Crime Commission.

The plan calls for a statewide communications and data processing center, a police academy, regional crime laboratories, continuance of the crime commission and specific police training courses in state universities.

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — A dispute over which airstrip to use threatened today to delay the Red Cross airlift of food to the starving Biafrans as Nigerian troops seized more territory from the rebels.

The Nigerian government agreed Tuesday to allow the Red Cross to fly food and medicine by day for a 10-day period to a Biafran airstrip near Uth Etchiala. But sources in Lagos said the Biafrans, want the food landed at an airstrip near Okigwe.

Black Walnut Tree May Be Facing Extinction in U.S.

By GROVER BRINKMAN
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

The walnut tree, in much of the central United States, is still big business. Demand for it has jumped to nearly 40 million board feet yearly. But cutting trees at this rate might soon put the black walnut in the class with our passenger pigeon — extinct.

Foresters insist that the walnut tree cutting pace is now so swift that if it continues at the present rate, the supply of even low quality logs won't last another five years. Choice lots are nearing exhaustion now.

What has caused it all? First, the walnut is famed for its matchless beauty of grain, its durability. It is known as "prestige wood" in the lumber trade.

For cabinetry, furniture, paneling, architectural uses, novelties — not to mention the military use of it for gunstocks — it is the most sought-after wood in any section of the U.S.

The high prices of walnut lumber has also put a shyster into the field, the itinerant logger who virtually steals the trees and later sells them at enormous profit.

State forestry men will cite incidents where these men have paid farmers minimal sums for timber rights, purchasing forest studded with walnut that brought them as much as 250 per cent profit on their investment.

Seriousness of the plight of the walnut industry may well be imagined from the new standards of the U. S. Commerce Department concerning thickness of walnut veneer. The veneer may now be trimmed to a thickness of 1-36th of an inch. Formerly it was 1-28th of an inch minimum. So today, if you purchase high-priced walnut furniture, you're actually getting a walnut covering over cheap base wood no thicker than a slice of chipped beef.

During the last decade, men roamed the timber belts posing as government buyers, searching for walnut. When they found a good stand, they made an offer, claiming the armed forces needed the trees for gunstocks. They even condemned trees for this purpose, until the FBI broke up the movement.

Today a fully matured veneer-quality walnut tree brings prices that are often amazing. One would think that reseeded would be popular, on the premise of later profit. But the rub is simple: it takes a walnut tree 40 years to mature. So unless you're young in years, you won't see the profit.

Today, sizeable walnut forests still remaining have dwindled down to a handful of states, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio predominating.

The walnut tree, its value recognized long years ago, as early as the 17th century, was an article of export to England. Once an abundant tree and constituting a considerable portion of large tracts of forest, particularly in the Mississippi Basin, its valuable wood has caused its almost complete destruction today.

If you are the owner of walnut trees today, and you are made an offer for them, it might first be wise to call your state forester, and have the trees appraised. You might be surprised at the worth of a single giant.

However, if you live in an urban community and have a walnut tree on the back lot, don't try to sell it. Through the years the kids have driven nails into it, and metal and high-speed saws don't mix. So lumber scouts usually pass up back yard walnuts for this reason.

Even a walnut stump has value today, for some of the finest wood-grain is found in the stump.

Sisters Injured In Bicycle Mishap

A car and bicycle collision injured two sisters on State Route 159 in Fairfield County Thursday.

Receiving emergency care at Berger Hospital for multiple contusions were Tina Liming 10, and Donna Liming, 12, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Liming of Route 2, Amanda.

NUTS — These aren't baseballs adorning this tree's limbs — they're black walnuts nearing maturity. The nuts are not valuable — but the tree is truly "prestige wood," valued at $150 to $500 on the stump when matured.

Labor Hands Big Rebuff To Wilson

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Organized labor today handed a stinging rebuff to Prime Minister Harold Wilson by voting overwhelmingly against his efforts to curb wage and price increases, the core of his Labor regime's drive for national security.

Delegates to the 160th annual convention of the Trades Union Congress then approved by the narrow margin of 34,000 votes out of 8,500,000 cast the TUC's own policy of voluntary restraint in wage claims. This policy had been approved in February with a majority of 500,000.

The vote demanding that the government repeal legislation permitting it to curb wages by law was approved by 7,746,000 to 1,022,000.

The TUC ballot served as a warning to the government to expect tougher opposition to the government's efforts to hold wage raises to 3 1/2 per cent in any 12-month period.

It also is expected to strengthen the determination of unions in the heavy machinery industry to go ahead with a national strike called for Sept. 23.

City Police Seek Hit-Skip Driver

Witnesses said the car that struck the other two and left the scene is a 1965 white Ford station wagon.

Flower Power Given the Boot

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP) — The Army is waging a defoliation campaign against Flower Power car stickers on the Ft. Carson reservation.

The adhesive-backed plastic or paper flower stickers have got to go under terms of a recent order, military police said.

Psychedelic paint jobs also are taboo. But racing stripes are permitted.

State Closes Out Books On Old Debt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger Cloud reported today that the state has closed its book on an antique procedure—the irreducible debt embracing $10.4 million—a debt the law wouldn't allow the state to pay off for 183 years.

Cloud presented to three state-supported universities checks representing their respective endowment shares in the so-called irreducible debt which accumulated over the years.

Ohio State University received a check for $4,764,460 representing gifts and endowments on which the state has been paying interest.

Ohio University and Miami University received $733,592 and $700,745, respectively. The total interest has amounted to more than $600,000 a year recently.

Balance of the debt, amounting to $4,268,779, consisted of school and ministerial funds derived from sale of surplus lands originally set aside for school and religious purposes.

Early this year Congress repealed three congressional acts dating back to 1783, reserving the school and ministerial lands. This was followed by favorable action on the Ohio General Assembly and Ohio voters who authorized liquidation of the debt.

Cloud said that since the congressional action gave Ohio a free hand in disposition of the lands, he would recommend to the next General Assembly that these funds be used to support vocational schools.

Cal Tech Wins Race Over MIT

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Great Electric Car Race has ended with the California Institute of Technology entry the winner by a wire-thin margin.

The judges in the cross-country race, the editors of Machine Design magazine, met nearly 10 hours Wednesday before awarding first place to Caltech's battery-powered Volkswagen Microbus.

Clare Wise, one of the judges, said Caltech's car with a correct elapsed time of 210.3 hours was 30 minutes ahead of the converted Chevrolet Corvair driven by students from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Both cars will be exhibited at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. The MIT car was flown there by the Air Force.

The race began at noon, Aug. 25. Both cars traveled the same 3,300-mile route, but in opposite directions.

The Caltech car arrived at the MIT campus in Cambridge, Mass., at 7:46 a.m. Wednesday. MIT's entry arrived at the Pasadena, Calif., campus of Caltech at 6:27 p.m. Monday.

Penalties were assessed for such things as towing. Wise said the MIT car was towed several times including the last 130 miles after its motor burned out.

The MIT car had a $20,000 nickel cadmium battery. Caltech's car was powered by 20 lead-cobalt batteries costing $600. Both cars used direct current traction motors.

MIT's team was headed by Len Loeb, 20, of Corpus Christi, Tex. Waley Rippl, 23, of Hollywood, Calif., headed the Caltech team and dreamed up the race to call public attention to the potential of electric propulsion.

In an annual report released Wednesday, he called it "the most effective year in the history of general law enforcement's effort to eliminate organized crime."

He said a record 1,168 indictments were obtained by the Justice Department against organized criminals during the year compared to 19 in 1960.

The report said 1,700 people were convicted of federal drug violations, 69 clandestine drug laboratories were seized and 327,750 grams of illegal narcotics confiscated by federal agents.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Alabama congressman says the captive U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its 32-man crew may be released by North Korea on Sunday.

Rep. William L. Dickinson, R-Ala., said reliable sources had informed him the release might coincide with the anniversary Sunday of the founding of the People's Republic of North Korea.

Dickinson, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, did not disclose the source of his information. But he said original intelligence estimates indicating the ship would be released after a thorough study of its electronic equipment appeared to be correct.

Stock Rally Gains Power

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rally gathered momentum and breadth early this afternoon in active trading.

Advances outstripped declines by about 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.5 to 336.8, with industrials up 1.8, rails up 1.4, and utilities up 1.3.

Some of the blue-chip leaders of the Wednesday advance faltered, but others continued making progress. Meanwhile, a number of secondary issues came to the fore as trading favorites.

Motors put on a strong performance, following news that sales of U.S.-made cars rose to a record in August. Some of the chemicals and aluminum continued to move ahead.

At the start, volume was running at least a million shares ahead of Wednesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.47 at 911.42.

The average was making good progress above the "magic" 900 before touching this year's closing high of 923.72 reached July 15.

Livingson Oil, a fractional gainer, was the volume pacer.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was heavier than Wednesday.

Stag Films Shown in Fight Against Fortas Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court pornography decisions and the uncertain impact of the presidential nominations were key factors today as opponents renewed their assault on the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice.

Sen. John L. McClellan, setting the stage for today's resumption of Senate Judiciary Committee debate on the nomination, showed three stag party films Tuesday to staff aides of noncommittee senators.

The Arkansas Democrat, presumably trying to drum up support for opposition to Fortas outside the committee, called the films "degrading." He said they "ought to be shown at a committee hearing and made part of the record."

Fortas, as an associate justice voted with the majority has found two of the films not to be pornography. The vote became a major point in opponents' arguments just before Congress broke Aug. 3 for the political conventions.

Some committee members saw the films then.

McClellan's showing of them Tuesday made it clear that the opposition to President Johnson's appointment of Fortas to succeed Earl Warren has not slackened. Warren has retired contingent upon Senate approval of a successor.

Less obvious as Congress returns to work is the impact on the controversy of Richard M. Nixon's nomination as Republican presidential candidate.

Nixon was one of the earliest to say Johnson should make no nominations until after the election. There have been predictions that his selection as GOP standard bearer will blunt some support of Fortas from Republican senators now more interested in party unity.

Because the opponents have the support of Nixon, some Republican senators are wondering if this will force Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to reassess his position.

Dirksen, the Senate GOP leader, strongly supported Johnson's nomination of Fortas when it was submitted. Aides have said lately, however, that Dirksen may be too busy with his own re-election campaign to take an active part in the fight.

Stag Films Shown in Fight Against Fortas Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court pornography decisions and the uncertain impact of the presidential nominations were key factors today as opponents renewed their assault on the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice.

Sen. John L. McClellan, setting the stage for today's resumption of Senate Judiciary Committee debate on the nomination, showed three stag party films Tuesday to staff aides of noncommittee senators.

The Arkansas Democrat, presumably trying to drum up support for opposition to Fortas outside the committee, called the films "degrading."

He said they "ought to be shown at a committee hearing and made part of the record."

Fortas, as an associate justice voted with the majority has found two of the films not to be pornography. The vote became a major point in opponents' arguments just before Congress broke Aug. 3 for the political conventions.

Some committee members saw the films then.

McClellan's showing of them Tuesday made it clear that the opposition to President Johnson's appointment of Fortas to succeed Earl Warren has not slackened. Warren has retired contingent upon Senate approval of a successor.

Less obvious as Congress returns to work is the impact on the controversy of Richard M. Nixon's nomination as Republican presidential candidate.

Nixon was one of the earliest to say Johnson should make no nominations until after the election. There have been predictions that his selection as GOP standard bearer will blunt some support of Fortas from Republican senators now more interested in party unity.

Because the opponents have the support of Nixon, some Republican senators are wondering if this will force Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to reassess his position.

Dirksen, the Senate GOP leader, strongly supported Johnson's nomination of Fortas when it was submitted. Aides have said lately, however, that Dirksen may be too busy with his own re-election campaign to take an active part in the fight.

Spreading Air Peaks

In the continuing air congestion over metropolitan airports, the cry most frequently raised is that some agency — the FAA, CAB or other federal authority — should order rescheduling to spread out the peaks and fill in the valleys.

But the first to back off were the FAA and CAB, the two agencies most directly concerned with regulating commercial flights. The reason for the unusual reversal of bureaucratic form was the sheer complexity of scheduling. For example:

Servicing the New York City area alone requires 2,000 daily schedules involving 15 airlines serving 100,000 persons traveling to 200 points, including 70 foreign countries. Excluding shuttle flights, each of these aircraft schedules is part of a network of hundreds of others, often with close-order connections.

Each schedule commits a $6-million airplane, seven flight crew members, airport accommodations and the ground crews whose job it is to keep the planes in safe operating condition.

Little wonder, then, the government agencies were pleased to pass the slide rules and computers back to the airlines with orders to work out some improvements. Naturally, the airlines will be inclined to consider the economic return on their investment in equipment along with meeting the demands of their customers in a safe and convenient way.

Needed is a clearinghouse set up by the airlines which can fairly apportion the more popular arrival and departure times. The CAB might also retain its authority to order changes when the danger of overcrowding appears.

Since general aviation fills as much as 25 percent of the workable air space around the major metropolitan airports during peak hours, attention should also be directed to diverting the smaller aircraft to fringe airports.

There's no longer much doubt, the convenience of a few must be sacrificed to the safe and serviceable operation of the major airlines which carry anywhere from 120 to 185 passengers per flight.

Pleasing Our Palates

Americans are eating fancier foods, a wire service dispatch says.

No longer content with the meat and potatoes, biscuit and cornbread diet of their ancestors, Americans are casting about all over the world for more exotic foods.

Cheese, for instance, sells today far better than it did even 10 years ago. And it isn't just the bland American cheddar that homemakers are buying. They're serving dozens of different cheeses from all parts of the world.

It cost grandmother nothing to make cottage cheese — she was merely salvaging an over-abundance of milk from the family cow. But granddaughter has to pay well to get the imported cheese she wants to serve her guests or family.

It's interesting, too, to see how this international cuisine is tied in with the American fondness for convenience foods. Americans not only like the food, they like it pre-mixed. So they're buying seasoned rice mixes from Holland, Italian risotto mixes, French mix for paella and other seafood casseroles.

It's a small world, and increasingly its delicacies are spread out on the American table.

And that costs more — particularly when the old world recipes are pre-mixed to provide the convenience American cooks want. It's something to think about when confronted by a high grocery bill.

"It's been a long day! You took the car keys with you this morning!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JOHN BIXBY, a Florida realtor, who has a gregarious wife and three popular teenage daughters, got fed up with the really staggering phone bills he was getting every month. He solved his problem to some extent, however, by ripping the phone out of his house and replacing it with one of those plug-in types. Now, when he drives off to his office each morning, he takes his phone with him.

Brilliant but trifling English novelist Evelyn Waugh, author of such international best-sellers as "Vile Bodies" and "Brideshead Revisited," was never a one to be gracious to autograph hunters or lion-hunters. When one gushing lady tourist assured him, "Oh, Mr. Waugh, I did so enjoy your last, hilarious novel. What a genius you are!" Waugh fixed her with a haughty stare, then replied, "I rather fancied my last book myself, but if a common, boring woman like you says it's good, it must be dreadful." Chided later for his inexcusable rudeness, Waugh defended himself, "She must know herself what a bloody bore she is, so she shouldn't mind me telling her."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

After a series of X-ray studies it was found that I have a hiatus hernia. I do not completely understand exactly what it is even after it was explained to me. Surgery has not been recommended is there anyway that this can be avoided?

Mrs. B. C. R., Utah
Dear Mr. R.: A hiatus hernia is a weakness of the wall of the esophagus, the tube through which food passes from the mouth to the stomach. The site at which this occurs is at the normal opening in the diaphragm through which the esophagus passes. Sometimes this is called a diaphragmatic hernia. A portion of the stomach sometimes protrudes through the opening.

The condition is often associated with some inflammation of the esophagus, mostly because acid contents of the stomach irritates the lining of the esophagus.

As in your case, the symptoms suggest the need for X-ray studies which then can verify the condition.

Surgery depends entirely on the individual problem since no two cases are alike in degree, severity, or in the incapacitation caused. Usually, diet and drugs are tried for a long period of time before surgery is suggested.

Since the condition occurs frequently in markedly overweight people, loss of weight and continued rigid dieting is imperative. Physicians frequently suggest that patients with this condition eat small quantities of food at more frequent intervals rather than overload the stomach with one large meal. Another suggestion is frequently made to prevent the bloated feeling after a heavy meal. Lie down shortly after a light meal and allow digestion to take place without too much activity. Sleeping with the head elevated, propped up on a pillow, seems to offer some relief.

The choice of anti-spasm drugs and alkaline tablets should be made only by the physician who keeps your condition under constant supervision.

A friend told me that she had varicose veins of the esophagus. I insisted that this was impossible and that she did not hear correctly. Is there such a thing?

Mrs. G.A., Ohio
Dear Mrs. A.: Your friend heard correctly. The reason you did not understand her is that this rather unusual condition does not fall into the normal medical information collected by solicitous friends.

There are a number of conditions related to liver disease and to the obstruction of the blood circulation to the intestinal tract that can lead to enlargement of the veins in the wall of the esophagus. Sometimes they become markedly distended and may even rupture if the underlying condition is not removed. There are now some remarkable surgical procedures by which blood can be bypassed in order to relieve the basic problem and the varicose veins of the esophagus.

Never swim to exhaustion, and don't swim in isolated areas.

Price Fixing

Pleas Entered

CLEVELAND (AP) — Five major bakeries and two bakery officials Wednesday entered no contest pleas in a federal grand jury indictment that they conspired to fix bread prices in Northern Ohio.

The pleas were made before U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti by the Laub Baking Co. of Cleveland and its president, Maurice B. Beyer; Alfred Nickels Bakery, Inc., of Navarre, Ohio, and its executive vice president, Malcolm J. MacNab; the Continental Baking Co., of Chicago, and Ward Foods, Inc., of New York City.

Woman, 103, Hurt In Room Blaze

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman, 103 years old, according to her son, was critically injured Wednesday in a bedroom fire in her top-floor apartment of a five-story Manhattan building.

Firemen removed Mrs. Elizabeth Barnes from the bedroom and she was admitted to Knickerbocker Hospital suffering from burns and smoke inhalation.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is a fadeless wealth.

It is the ever-golden currency of the mind, a coinage that is more likely to gain in value than depreciate with the passage of time.

No one can put a price tag on his memories—except perhaps people who write spy memoirs—but you've probably got a pretty valuable hoard if you can look back and remember when: The only fellows who beat bongo drums lived in jungles. One of the first things a bride bought when she came back from her honeymoon was a washboard.

Most farmers still preferred mules to tractors because you never had to oil a mule and it didn't rust if left out in the rain.

During the Great Depression it seemed like there were more men on street corners selling apples than were eating them. A young fellow would be ordered out of a community pool if he dared show up for a swim clad in bathing trunks that left his chest bare.

A college girl thought there was nothing more romantic than to go for a canoe ride at twilight with a young blade who played the mandolin.

You could win a reputation for repartee by asking, "Why did the chicken cross the road?" and then quickly adding—"Why, to get to the other side."

About three out of five automobiles had patches on the inner tubes of their tires and about eight out of ten small boys habitually had patches on their trousers.

The hippies of the 1920s were called "cake eaters," and their revolt against the commonplace was expressed chiefly by growing long sideburns and wearing outlandishly wide pants and pork pie hats.

A girl could start unsavory gossip about her morals merely by being seen riding with a boy in the rumble seat of a sports car.

You could tell a woman who dyed her hair as far as you could see the color of henna.

Fat people were thought to look healthier than thin people. If you were slender you were urged to eat more and "get some meat on those bones."

Doctors had no telephone answering services. The only way they could be sure of not being called out in the middle of the night to make a house call was to go on a vacation.

If you had told the average wife that some day men's shirts would be invented that wouldn't require ironing, she'd have burst into hysterical laughter.

Mother became highly nervous when a telegraph messenger came to the door. She was sure the news was bad, because nobody would pay that kind of money to send good news. They'd wait and write a letter.

Nobody wondered whether God was dead. He was as alive as Satan, and Satan was very much alive. Anybody with eyes in his head could look around and see the Devil's handiwork everywhere.

Those were the days! Remember?

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

The following letter is directed to students who are considering dropping out of school.

So you got a summer job and that money coming in looks real good. So you have now decided to forget about going back to school, after all you are over sixteen. Don't be a fool. Don't let anyone talk you into quitting school. Maybe you better think it over.

So you are fed up with school and think it's worthless to keep going. So you've taken all the courses you want to take, after all you have gone to school for over 9 to 10 years. Don't be a fool. Maybe you better think it over.

So you want to get away from home and forget about school so you can be your own boss. So you think it will be easy to go it by your lonesome. Don't be a fool. Maybe you better think it over.

So you know a guy who quit school and he says he's making it O.K. So you think if he can do it, so can you. Don't be a fool. Maybe you better think it over.

So nine out of ten jobs require a high school diploma, and graduates earn almost 50 percent more money each year than non-graduates. So maybe you better reconsider dropping out this year and sticking it out, after all what's another year of school. Now you're not a fool. Now you won't let anyone talk you out of finishing school and getting that diploma.

Gilligan Gets McCarthy Aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans who supported Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota in his unsuccessful bid for the Democratic presidential nomination apparently have turned their attention to John J. Gilligan.

Gilligan opposed Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio.

McCarthy people said Wednesday that Gilligan, because of his stand on Vietnam, has inherited the support of Democrats who formerly backed McCarthy.

McCarthy asked his supporters last week to work for congressional "peace" candidates who oppose the party platform's Vietnam plank. Gilligan was active in the platform fight at the national convention.

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt
Central Press Writer

The American Speech and Hearing Association held a meeting in Washington on "Noise as a Public Health Hazard." The experts decided a lot of things being noised about aren't good for you.

Noise is "unwanted sound," the experts say. It can be a whisper, like "Let me have five till pay day."

"Noise must be considered a hazard to the health of people everywhere," said Surgeon General William H. Stewart. When the surgeon general says it, it's a big noise.

One man's "unwanted" sound is not necessarily another man's. "Strike three!" for instance.

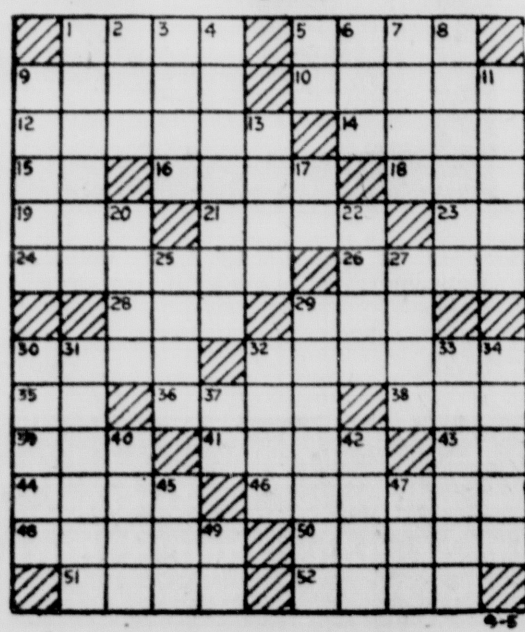

The conference decided the noise level of modern society is hurting our health. So there must be drawbacks to being a good listener.

Civilization is suffering from "noise pollution," the experts decided. That probably includes a waste of words.

No longer content with the meat and potatoes, biscuit and cornbread diet of their ancestors, Americans are casting about all over the world for more exotic foods.

Cheese, for instance, sells today far better than it did even 10 years ago. And it isn't just the bland American cheddar that homemakers are buying. They're serving dozens of different cheeses from all parts of the world.

It cost grandmother nothing to make cottage cheese — she was merely salvaging an over-abundance of milk from the family cow. But granddaughter has to pay well to get the imported cheese she wants to serve her guests or family.

It's interesting, too, to see how this international cuisine is tied in with the American fondness for convenience foods. Americans not only like the food, they like it pre-mixed. So they're buying seasoned rice mixes from Holland, Italian risotto mixes, French mix for paella and other seafood casseroles.

It's a small world, and increasingly its delicacies are spread out on the American table.

And that costs more — particularly when the old world recipes are pre-mixed to provide the convenience American cooks want. It's something to think about when confronted by a high grocery bill.

Laff-A-Day

"It's been a long day! You took the car keys with you this morning!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JOHN BILBY, a Florida realtor, who has a gregarious wife and three popular teen-age daughters, got fed up with the really staggering phone bills he was getting every month.

He solved his problem to some extent, however, by ripping the phone out of his house and replacing it with one of those plug-in types. Now, when he drives off to his office each morning, he takes his phone with him.

Brilliant but frangible English novelist Evelyn Waugh, author of such international best-sellers as "Vile Bodies" and "Brideshead Revisited," was never a one to be gracious to autograph hunters or lion-hunters. When one gushing lady tourist assured him, "Oh, Mr. Waugh, I did so enjoy your last, hilarious novel. What a genius you are!" Waugh fixed her with a haughty stare, then replied, "I rather fancied my last book myself, but if a common, boring woman like you says it's good, it must be dreadful." Chided later for his inexcusable rudeness, Waugh defended himself, "She must know herself what a bloody bore she is, so she shouldn't mind me telling her."

WEBSTER REVISED: ARCHEOLOGIST: A man whose career lies in ruins. CONVENTION OF PHILOSOPHERS: The Leisure of the Theory Class. FLIRTING: Wishful winking. HANGOVER: A tooth ache. PARKING METER: The only place a car really can stop a dime. SKEPTIC: A man who won't take know for an answer.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

After a series of X-ray studies it was found that I have a hiatus hernia. I do not completely understand exactly what it is even after it was explained to me. Surgery has not been recommended in there anyway that this can be avoided?

Dear Mr. R.: A hiatus hernia is a weakness of the wall of the esophagus, the tube through which food passes from the mouth to the stomach. The site at which this occurs is at the normal opening in the diaphragm through which the esophagus passes. Sometimes this is called a diaphragmatic hernia. A portion of the stomach sometimes protrudes through the opening.

The condition is often associated with some inflammation of the esophagus, mostly because acid contents of the stomach irritates the lining of the esophagus.

As in your case, the symptoms suggest the need for X-ray studies which then can verify the condition.

Surgery depends entirely on the individual problem since no two cases are alike in degree, severity, or in the incapacitation caused. Usually, diet and drugs are tried for a long period of time before surgery is suggested.

Since the condition occurs frequently in markedly overweight people, loss of weight and continued rigid dieting is imperative. Physicians frequently suggest that patients with this condition eat small quantities of food at more frequent intervals rather than overload the stomach with one large meal. Another suggestion is frequently made to prevent the bloated feeling after a heavy meal. Lie down shortly after a light meal and allow digestion to take place without too much activity. Sleeping with the head elevated, propped up on a pillow, seems to offer some relief.

The choice of anti-spasm drugs and alkaline tablets should be made only by the physician who keeps your condition under constant supervision.

A friend told me that she had varicose veins of the esophagus. I insisted that this was impossible and that she did not hear correctly. Is there such a thing?

Dear Mrs. A.: Your friend heard correctly. The reason you did not understand her is that this rather unusual condition does not fall into the normal medical information collected by solicitous friends.

There are a number of conditions related to liver disease and to the obstruction of the blood circulation to the intestinal tract that can lead to enlargement of the veins in the wall of the esophagus. Sometimes they become markedly distended and may even rupture if the underlying condition is not removed. There are now some remarkable surgical procedures by which blood can be bypassed in order to relieve the basic problem and the varicose veins of the esophagus.

Price Fixing Pleas Entered

CLEVELAND (AP) — Five major bakeries and two bakery officials Wednesday entered no contest pleas in a federal grand jury indictment that they conspired to fix bread prices in Northern Ohio.

The pleas were made before U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti by the Laub Baking Co. of Cleveland and its president, Maurice B. Beyer; Alfred Nickels Bakery, Inc., of Navarre, Ohio, and its executive vice president, Malcolm J. MacNab; the Continental Baking Co., Rye, N. Y.; American Bakeries Co., Chicago, and Ward Foods, Inc., of New York City.

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is a fadeless wealth.

It is the ever-golden currency of the mind, a coinage that is more likely to gain in value than depreciate with the passage of time.

No one can put a price tag on his memories—except perhaps people who write spicy memoirs —but you've probably got a pretty valuable hoard if you can look back and remember when:

The only fellows who beat bongo drums lived in jungles.

One of the first things a bride bought when she came back from her honeymoon was a washboard.

Most farmers still preferred mules to tractors because you never had to oil a mule and it didn't rust if left out in the rain.

During the Great Depression it seemed like there were more men on street corners selling apples than were eating them.

A young fellow would be ordered out of a community pool if he dared show up for a swim clad in bathing trunks that left his chest bare.

A college girl thought there was nothing more romantic than to go for a canoe ride at twilight with a young blade who played the mandolin.

You could win a reputation for repartee by asking, "Why did the chicken cross the road?" and then quickly adding—"Why, to get to the other side."

About three out of five automobiles had patches on the inner tubes of their tires and about eight out of ten small boys habitually had patches on their trousers.

The hippies of the 1920s were called "cake eaters," and their revolt against the commonplace was expressed chiefly by growing long sideburns and wearing outlandishly wide pants and pork pie hats.

A girl could start unsavory

gossip about her morals merely by being seen riding with a boy in the rumble seat of a sports car.

You could tell a woman who dyed her hair as far as you could see the color of henna.

Fat people were thought to look healthier than thin people. If you were slender you were urged to eat more and "get some meat on those bones."

Doctors had no telephone answering services. The only way they could be sure of not being called out in the middle of the night to make a house call was to go on a vacation.

If you had told the average wife that some day men's shirts would be invented that wouldn't require ironing, she'd have burst into hysterical laughter.

Mother became highly nervous when a telegraph messenger came to the door. She was sure the news was bad, because nobody would pay that kind of money to send good news. They'd wait and write a letter.

Nobody wondered whether God was dead. He was as alive as Satan, and Satan was very much alive. Anybody with eyes in his head could look around and see the Devil's handiwork everywhere.

Those were the days! Remember?

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Dear Editor:

The following letter is directed to students who are considering dropping out of school.

So you got a summer job and that money coming in looks real good. So you have now decided to forget about going back to school, after all you are over sixteen. Don't be a fool. Don't let anyone talk you into quitting school. Maybe you better think it over.

So you are fed up with school and think it's worthless to keep going. So you've taken all the courses you want to take, after all you have gone to school for over 9 to 10 years. Don't be a fool. Maybe you better think it over.

So you want to get away from home and forget about school so you can be your own boss. So you think it will be easy to go it by your lonesome. Don't be a fool. Maybe you better think it over.

So you know a guy who quit school and he says he's making it O.K. So you think if he can do it, so can you. Don't be a fool. Maybe you better think it over.

So nine out of ten jobs require a high school diploma, and graduates earn almost 50 per cent more money each year than non graduates. So maybe you better reconsider dropping out this year and sticking it out, after all what's another year of school. Now you're not a fool. Now you won't let anyone talk you out of finishing school and getting that diploma.

Gilligan Gets McCarthy Aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans who supported Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota in his unsuccessful bid for the Democratic presidential nomination apparently have turned their attention to John J. Gilligan.

Gilligan opposed Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio.

McCarthy people said Wednesday that Gilligan, because of his stand on Vietnam, has inherited the support of Democrats who formerly backed McCarthy.

McCarthy asked his supporters last week to work for congressional "peace" candidates who oppose the party platform's Vietnam plank. Gilligan was active in the platform fight at the national convention.

The American Speech and Hearing Association held a meeting in Washington on "Noise as a Public Health Hazard." The experts decided a lot of things being noised about aren't good for you.

Noise is "unwanted sound," the experts say. It can be a whisper, like "Let me have five till pay day."

"Noise must be considered a hazard to the health of people everywhere," said Surgeon General William H. Stewart. When the surgeon general says it, it's a big noise.

One man's "unwanted" sound is not necessarily another man's. "Strike three!" for instance.

The conference decided the noise level of modern society is hurting our health. So there must be drawbacks to being a good listener.

Civilization is suffering from "noise pollution," the experts decided. That probably includes a waste of words.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Birthmark Causes Rude Questions

DEAR ABBY: I have a birthmark on my neck which I can do nothing about. It used to be a strawberry red, but now it's gotten brownish, but it's just as noticeable.

I have used cosmetics to cover it, but powders and creams come off on my clothing, so I finally said, "To heck with that!"

I have been to all kinds of doctors and they all say, "It cannot be removed," and a skin graft would be too expensive, and it might leave scars which would be even worse.

I know you can't help me, Abby, but if you print this, perhaps it will stop a few people from staring at me, in wonderment, or coming right out and asking me the incredibly rude question, "Is your neck dirty?"

BIRTHMARK CURSE
DEAR BIRTHMARK: A good rule to remember is, "If there is no remedy for it, learn to live with it." You can't stop rude people from staring. Neither can you prevent them from asking cruel and thoughtless questions, but you can avoid much embarrassment by coming right out yourself (when people stare) and saying, "No, my neck is not dirty... that's a birthmark."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 24-year-old male who is getting married in September. My mother is going to have a baby in October. She is 44 years old, and is heartbroken about her condition because she's a widow. She couldn't believe it at first, but the doctor said she is definitely pregnant.

Abby, I love my mother and I intend to stick by her regardless. My problem is whether to tell my fiancée and her family about my mother. Is it really any of their business? All they know is that my mother is a middle-aged widow. I would appreciate your advice on this.

IN DOUBT
DEAR IN: Your mother's condition is nobody's business but hers. But a widow who plans to appear at her son's wedding in her 8th month, had better be prepared to answer a few questions. (and so should you.)

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is soon to be married to a very nice young man, and here is the problem: HIS mother is having a "JACK AND JILL" shower for my daughter and her son, and she is going around selling tickets to anyone who will buy one for $3.50! I am flabbergasted, to say the least.

How do we get out of this ridiculous situation? I know it is not proper for the parents of the bride or groom to host a shower, but this business of selling tickets is dreadful, and we want no part of it. Any suggestions?

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: Tell the mother of the groom (with all the kindness you can muster) that you appreciate her good intentions, but to forget the shower lest people get the impression that she's motivated by the loot.

Slate Spiritual Alliance for Progress

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
Associated Press Writer

MEDELLIN, Colombia (AP)

— Latin-American Catholicism's most distinguished figures are putting the finishing touches here to what shapes up as a sort of spiritual Alliance for Progress.

They are preparing a policy document spelling out the Church's position on the social, economic, cultural, religious and political ills plaguing this part of the world.

The work of the second general conference of the Latin American Bishops' Council is being done in the austere classrooms of a mountaintop seminary overlooking this textile manufacturing center of 1 million.

The hemisphere's backward conditions are not the sole motivating force behind the conference's painstaking dedication to formulation of new policy. Also at stake is the Roman Catholic Church's future in Latin America. Few bishops will admit it publicly, but privately many seem concerned with the decline of Church influence in recent years.

Vocations are declining, as they are in the United States and Europe. The number of dioceses, in relation to population, has decreased in the past five years. The Church no longer is being accepted as unchallenged. Protestantism is winning more converts.

Spurred by a reformist mood, the Church has tried to keep pace by altering centuries-old traditions. Ritual and liturgy have been modernized in some areas.

A fundamental part of the task here is to adopt a position that will not wholly alienate the conservatives, who feel the Church's role should be purely evangelical, and still be acceptable to those who want a Church more closely identified with reformist fervor.

Working reports produced so far indicate that liberal sentiment is prevailing, but on a note of moderation. This was almost to be expected, considering the physical makeup of the assembly. Older prelates are a minority. The seminary seems overrun by eager young priests full of social statistics.

It appears almost certain that the final position document will follow the guidelines set down by Pope Paul VI during his visit last month to Bogota, the Colombian capital, where he stressed nonviolent reform. Authoritative sources at the conference say the final document will condemn growing militarism in the hemisphere and censure the kind of nationalism that inhibits integration. It also will call for the "democratization" of foreign capital which, it is said, imposes negative political, economic and social conditions. All indications are that the Church will take quick steps to identify itself more with youth and the poorer classes.

Mansfield Sees Short Session

Expect Congress To Quit Oct. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says Congress has about four weeks to clean up legislation which includes such emotional issues as gun control, foreign aid and President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations.

Mansfield said Tuesday on the eve of Congress' return from a month-long recess that by October campaigning will probably lure away congressmen necessary for quorums in the chambers.

Mansfield said Congress could recess and return in November. But he added that another extra session could possibly affect only the Senate, which is confronted by President Johnson's nomination of Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice of the Supreme Court and by the nuclear nonproliferation treaty whose future is clouded by Soviet moves in East Europe.

Nothing major is scheduled for call this week in either the House or the Senate. But committees will be busy, especially the Senate Judiciary which is considering the Fortas nomination.

Miss Iowa Is Winner in Swimsdit Contest

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Miss Iowa, Susan Thompson, jubilant over winning the first swimsuit judging in the 1968 Miss America Pageant, says her father leaves Sept. 27 for Vietnam.

"It kind of takes some of the joy away from it," said the curly, 20-year-old daughter of an Air Force pilot after Wednesday night's competition.

Susan's dad, Maj. Abe Thompson, was unable to see his daughter at the pageant. Formerly a professor of aerospace studies at Grove City College in western Pennsylvania, he is now in training for his second tour of duty as a jet fighter pilot in Vietnam.

Susan said she has moved from post to post since 1954.

Mansfield Sees Short Session

Expect Congress To Quit Oct. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says Congress has about four weeks to clean up legislation which includes such emotional issues as gun control, foreign aid and President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations.

Mansfield said Tuesday on the eve of Congress' return from a month-long recess that by October campaigning will probably lure away congressmen necessary for quorums in the chambers.

Mansfield said Congress could recess and return in November. But he added that another extra session could possibly affect only the Senate, which is confronted by President Johnson's nomination of Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice of the Supreme Court and by the nuclear nonproliferation treaty whose future is clouded by Soviet moves in East Europe.

Nothing major is scheduled for callup this week in either the House or the Senate. But committees will be busy, especially the Senate Judiciary which is considering the Fortas nomination.

Miss Iowa Is Winner in Swimsuit Contest

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Miss Iowa, Susan Thompson, jubilant over winning the first swimsuit judging in the 1968 Miss America Pageant, says her father leaves Sept. 27 for Vietnam.

"It kind of takes some of the joy away from it," said the curvy, 20-year-old daughter of an Air Force pilot after Wednesday night's competition.

Susan's dad, Maj. Abe Thompson, was unable to see his daughter at the pageant. Formerly a professor of aerospace studies at Grove City College in western Pennsylvania, he is now in training for his second tour of duty as a jet fighter pilot in Vietnam.

Susan said she has moved from post to post since 1954.

"The only piece of furniture that followed us was the piano," the blonde, blue-eyed Drake University music major from Des Moines added.

Although she will play the piano in the talent competition, the judges found nothing wrong in the way she filled a swimsuit with her 36-24-36 figure. She stands 5-foot-8 and weighs 121 pounds.

Attorney General Releases Data on Fight Against Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty.
Gen. Ramsey Clark reported today record numbers of arrests and convictions in the last fiscal year in his department's battle against organized crime.

"A vigorous follow-through can achieve virtual elimination of major organized crime that has corrupted American life for decades," Clark said in a statement.

His report detailed the work of his department's criminal division with emphasis on a special organized crime and racket section. He said the number of indictments has increased each year since the special drive was started in 1961.

Indictments were obtained against 1,166 persons in the year ended June 30, Clark said, compared to 1,107 the preceding year and 19 in 1960, the year before the special drive was started.

Convictions also reached record proportions—520 compared with 400 in fiscal 1967, a 30 per cent rise, he said.

Of the 520 convictions, he continued, 291 resulted from FBI investigations into the activities of racketeers and gamblers.

pected members of the Mafia.

Clark said during the past 13 years 210 known or suspected members of that crime syndicate were indicted or convicted.

He attributed part of the criminal division's success during the past two years to a policy of establishing what he called strike forces—teams of attorneys and investigators from key federal agencies who move comprehensively against organized crime in a specific metropolitan area.

cial organized crime and racket

year since the special drive was started in 1961.

Garden Gossip and Helpful Hints

By MRS. E. P. HANSON
'The Lady by the Lake'

September is the month of the Hunter's Moon. The beginning of the fall garden, time of brilliant coloring, crisp air in the mornings. Shorter days with blue skies that have billowing clouds that often get us rains that are needed for harvest that come each day.

Time has come for that last feeding of the lawns. Time to plant all members of the narcissus family. Plant lilies, eremurus root, iris can be transplanted, but cover with baskets.

Many, many birds have gathered and have left our part of the country. The robins have taken over the yards now.

The Glen McCoy's have had a strip of flowers growing in their side yard all summer and the roses and daisies still give a lot of color along with the zinnias.

Mrs. Karl Diltz won several ribbons at the Pickaway County Fair flower shows this past summer and when I needed some arrangements she graciously did one for me with red roses. The zinnias that she also gave me were so nice. The round garden at the back of their yard is giving out blooms for the family to enjoy out of their kitchen window.

This past week I had the pleasure of visiting an entirely different type garden than most of us dream of. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Porck of Knollwood Village have built a home that blends into the trees and surrounding landscape. Most of the living rooms are up among the tree tops.

Looking down from the balcony one sees three distinct textures in greens and browns. With a large concrete patio. The rock garden to one side, will in the future, having running water to add to the soothing effects the Porck's have achieved in the spacious yard.

Starting out with a blueprint they have succeeded in carrying out their plans, with oasis of grasses, among brown roughly shredded bark, and growing plants of lilies and other shrubs of colored blooms and berries.

The front yard facing the street is quite narrow and has a patch of grass with yews and an orange-berried pyracantha up to the wooden part of the wall of the home.

The entrance on the side is reached by a wide walk of crushed rock and a wooden planter with pink geraniums and ivy. The ivy abounds in the yard with Catonia Aster that has started to send new growth over the retaining wall. Texas Rock has been placed along the driveway with ferns. A pyracantha is on the side wall and full of berries.

A ways from the doorway under very tall trees are peonies and lilies that early in the spring will be a wealth of color. Garden statuary finish that part of the garden.

The Hemlock and Spruce grow under the very tall dogwoods of pink, red and white. Ferns of the woods type along with driftwood lead up to the rock garden. The coloring of soft yellow, grey and white rocks blend in with spring violets and some day a pond will complete the back garden.

Laurel, veronica with eunymus and sweet bay all find their places in this unique yard. The south side sent sunshine rays on the shining leaves of magnolia trees, iris that had already been cut in their fan shapes for winter with more ivy and pink geraniums in pots.

Watching this garden develop will be fun for this family as it will require a minimum of care and give unmeasurable pleasure.

Isn't the aroma of grapes that fills the air around the grape arbors in the garden just heavenly?

The wild plums are a brilliant red amid the green leaves at this time of the year. Contrasting with the blue sky and billowing white clouds form pictures by nature unsurpassed by an artist.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith on Markley Road have bright red geraniums that Mrs. Smith took in last fall and planted them out of her front doorway with a big splash of color with intermittent clusters of snapdragons of white, pink and red. The yews are doing real well and in a planter box that is no small feat.

The Guy Stockman's have growing in their front yard lavender-red dahlia's. So pretty, so look for it as you drive along Northridge Road.

The Leo Cooks on Route 3 have an extra large garden with tomatoes, beans and many other vegetables. The spikes of early gladiolus pleased everyone that passed the house. Now the geraniums of pink (Martha Washington) and white are sparkling in the morning sun.

Priests Ask U.S. Bishops For Aid in Birth Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty-one Roman Catholic priests, claiming a right to their own ideas on birth control, are asking the National Council of Catholic Bishops to step into the priests' dispute with Washington's Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle.

A leader of the dissident priests, the Washington Priests Association, said Wednesday night a petition is being sent to the Council of Bishops asking it to set up a special board to mediate the dispute which already has led to suspension of one priest.

The suspended priest is the Rev. T. Joseph O'Donoghue who moved out of his Northwest Washington rectory quarters Wednesday, meeting a deadline set by Cardinal O'Boyle.

The cardinal suspended Father O'Donoghue for citing in a sermon the words of some Catholic theologians who disagreed with Pope Paul VI's encyclical banning all forms of artificial birth control.

Cardinal O'Boyle told a news conference this week that the encyclical is the authoritative teaching of the church and must be followed by priests who deal with birth control, even though the encyclical is not necessarily infallible.

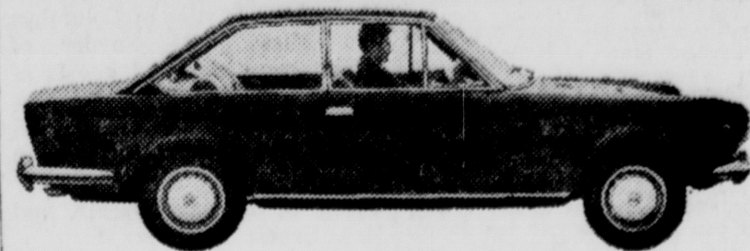

The cardinal contended that "an attack on authority" is behind the priests' rebellion. He has given the priests until Sept. 14 to retract their statements or face punishment. He has not said what punishments might be assessed. But under church law penalties can range from withdrawal of specific privileges, such as saying Mass, to suspension from a parish church.

Vanik Urges Asylum For Czechs in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, urged President Johnson in a telegram Wednesday to extend asylum to Czechoslovakian nationals now visiting in the United States. Vanik said more than 40 Czech nationals now in the Cleveland area on visitors' visas have contacted him about their status and possible political asylum.

FAA Proposes To Restrict Traffic at Major Airports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Transportation Department formally proposes plans to restrict the number and type of aircraft using airports in New York City, Washington and Chicago as a means of easing air traffic congestion.

The Federal Aviation Administration, in a notice of proposed ruling, designated Kennedy, La Guardia and Newark airports in the New York area, Chicago's O'Hare, and Washington National as "high-density airports."

At each of these airports, a specified number of takeoffs and landings under instrument flight rules would be assigned.

The proposed rule would, during the hours from 6 a.m. to midnight, restrict such operations at Kennedy Airport to 80 an hour, at O'Hare to 135 an hour and at La Guardia, New York and Washington National to 60 an hour.

The proposed rule would require aircraft operating into the airports under the reservation plan to be able to maintain an air speed of not less than 172 miles an hour while under the jurisdiction of air traffic approach control.

The FAA said it would hold a public hearing on the proposed rule Sept. 25 and would receive comments until Oct. 9. The new regulations could go into effect shortly thereafter and probably will become effective in November.

New Soviet Missile Worries U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet tests of a long-range missile capable of packing "bushels of warheads" may force a sharp reappraisal of the U.S. missile counterpunch.

Expansion of the controversial Sentinel defensive system and the nation's offensive missile arsenal are being discussed in response to reports that the Soviets test-fired a missile hauling four warheads.

U.S. experts learned of the Soviet test early this week, even though it took place in late August, a week after similar tests at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said the Pentagon—officially mum so far—had not informed him of the test. But military sources confirmed the Soviets apparently had fired a new-type ICBM.

Sources indicated they aren't certain whether the warheads were guided or unguided.

This would make a big difference, indicating whether the warheads could be accurate enough to knock out underground missile silos.

Jackson said a Soviet move into the multiple-warhead field could threaten U.S. missiles forming the bedrock of the American nuclear deterrent.

"This raises a quantitative question about our missile needs," he said. "It opens the door to a revision of all our fixed numbers."

The United States has peaked construction of the Air Force Minuteman, capable of intercontinental ranges, at 1,000 missiles.

But the Soviet Union is expected to have an equal number of launchers by the end of next year, and with several bombs atop them would field what Jackson called a "tremendous" number of warheads.

With that destructive force capable of eroding American nuclear strength, the issue is whether the United States should expand the 1,000-strong ICBM arsenal, Jackson said.

Pentagon officials estimate that if 400 U.S. land-based missiles survived a Soviet missile attack, the United States could still kill 30 per cent of the people in the Soviet Union.

Jackson said the SS9, which normally carries one big multiple-warhead bomb, could be adapted to carry "bushels of warheads."

One military officer said a Soviet decision to go to multiple warheads would primarily affect the planned U.S. Sentinel antimissile system—which, according to present explanations, is aimed at the emerging Communist Chinese threat.

Each warhead flying toward a U.S. target would have to be taken under attack by a single interceptor, unless the antimissile could hit the attacking weapon before its cluster scattered.

Funds for starting the Sentinel system are contained in the 72-billion defense appropriations measure now before Congress. The funds survived numerous attempts to delete them.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The trouble with vacations and business trips is that they are likely to shake the viewer out of his normal television habits.

Missing a few summer variety hours, like "Music Hall" or "Show Time" is nothing to fret about, but it is something else when one has been away for perhaps several weeks from the daytime serials or particularly, "Peyton Place."

Constant Viewer, after a two months absence, was back in the ABC soap opera town Wednesday night. It was like straying into a land where everybody spoke a foreign language.

There was that earnest young clergyman, Tom Winters, announcing his decision to leave the church because he is "in love with a woman who is not my wife." Nobody told us who the other woman was.

Meanwhile, in Peyton Place hospital, his wife lay in bed with intravenous feeding tubes in her arm but every false eyelash in place, pleading for help in getting Tom back. Will Susan go back to the bottle if Tom persists in his plan?

In another hospital room there is poor Rodney Harrington — who last year was acquitted on a murder charge — lying on his stomach with his chin in a sling looking mournful while a famed neurosurgeon presses his spinal column and asks if he feels anything. He doesn't. What happened to Rodney? Will he ever walk again?

And so it went for 30 minutes. It will take at least two weeks of faithful viewing to catch up with all the new twists and turns in the story. It is easier and quicker with the daytime soaps. Those stories move at a slower pace and they usually explain as they go along.

NBC's summer "Music Hall" Wednesday night vividly illustrated the perils of inserting topical humor in programs taped far in advance of air time.

It was shot in June or early July. Now that it is fashionable for variety show hosts to toss few political darts in their opening monologue, Ed McMahon's script had a line about James Arness of "Gunsmoke" running for sheriff of Dodge City, and winning easily because his opponent was Richard Nixon.

Between the time the show's writer inserted the crack and the time of the broadcast, a lot of things occurred, including two political conventions. Today Nixon-losers jokes are out of style and have lost their humor.

Over-all, however, the summer shows of this year-round variety series have the advantage of being fresh programs, a nice change from reruns.

Another in the same category is CBS' "Dom De Luise Show." Both are nearing the end of their runs, and both tend to let their numbers—musical interludes and comedy sketches—run far too long.

De Luise, a talented funny man, has improved his style immensely over the months. He started out working so hard he even tired his home audience. Now he has slowed his pace and gained in comedy tempo.

Claim Miami Riots Planned Beforehand

Testimony Given During Inquest Into Slayings

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A police lieutenant testified Wednesday that rioting in Miami during the Republican National Convention was "mass, planned, criminal activity."

Lt. William P. McClure, a homicide investigator, made the charge in testimony at an inquest into the deaths of two Negroes shot by police during the violence. The deaths were ruled justifiable homicide.

John J. Austin, 29, and Moses Cannon, 23, were killed Aug. 8. Justice of the Peace Charles Snowden ruled they were shot while fleeing "after committing a felony of violence."

Disturbances occurred in three Negro business and residential districts in Miami. The focus was in Liberty City where the violence began Aug. 7.

"This was not civil disorder, not civil disobedience, not a group of boys being disobedient," McClure testified. "This was mass, planned, criminal activity."

McClure said the second day of violence began about 1 p.m. and then, "as though on signal, just after 4 o'clock, our officers reported being shot at at six different localities along 62nd Street" in Liberty City.

"I saw a garbage can of rocks, and there was other evidence of stockpiling," McClure said.

"We got a call that a police car was taking gunfire," the lieutenant said. "We drove the gauntlet from 12th Avenue to 17th Avenue through the mob, a screaming mob of criminals. We were being pelted with rocks and firebombs—each one a felonious assault. There was looting, robbery and felonious assault — every crime in the book."

Buses Are Out, But Horses OK

ATASCADERO, Calif. (AP) — For pupils who live 10 miles from school or less, busing is out this year in the Atascadero Unified School District.

"We just can't afford it," Supt. Edward Holden said Wednesday. But he said free stabling will be provided to youngsters who ride horses to school.

THEIR TOWN IN RUBBLE—Two Iranian children on a hilltop look down on the rubble that once was their home town of Conabad. The nation counted more than 20,000 dead following the worst series of earthquakes in its history—1,300 square miles devastated.

Russia Keeping Tight Rein On Czech Occupation Force

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

PRAGUE (AP) — Soviet GIs from Siberia and the Ukraine look at Prague's night spots with envy as they continue their occupation of the Czechoslovak capital.

"We aren't allowed to drink," said a captain in dark weather-stained khaki when foreigners offered him a small bottle of whiskey.

He also refused an invitation to dinner at one of Prague's excellent restaurants. "Not in this uniform," he said. "Unfortunately, we haven't any civilian clothes."

It was his way of being discreet. Probably no Czech would have shown his bitter anger over the Soviet invasion, but Soviet troops are under strict orders to do nothing that might lead to an incident with the submissive but still resentful population.

The Soviets are especially sensitive about their uniforms. Czechs have told them so often: "We'd be more than glad to welcome you as civilians, without weapons." The Russians get such a cold shoulder from the Czechs that they welcome any normal civility.

In recent days there has been a more friendly response from some young Czechs, and some local girls have been seen fraternizing with the Soviet troops, undeterred by those whose heads were shaved by indignant patriots.

One of the chief contact points between Soviet soldiers and the people of Prague is the tank encampment in Vrchbilskeho Park, between the main railway station and St. Wenceslas Square, the center of the city.

Bored with the lack of activity, the Soviet soldiers welcome any opportunity for a friendly chat or even a sharp political argument.

Life isn't too comfortable in the park, in the heat and the rain, but the soldiers seem resigned.

Volcano Erupts In Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — The Irazu volcano on Costa Rica's central plateau erupted Wednesday, sending up a 1,000-foot gray cloud.

The eruption caused alarm in nearby towns but there were no immediate reports of damage.

Irazu last erupted in 1963, continuing for 18 months and scattering millions of tons of ashes over the area.

The Arenal volcano in north-west Costa Rica, which began erupting several weeks ago, continued to shoot out vapor clouds Wednesday.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The trouble with vacations and business trips is that they are likely to shake the viewer out of his normal television habits.

Missing a few summer variety hours, like "Music Hall" or "Show Time" is nothing to fret about, but it is something else when one has been away for perhaps several weeks from the daytime serials or particularly, "Peyton Place."

Constant Viewer, after a two months absence, was back in the ABC soap opera town Wednesday night. It was like straying into a land where everybody spoke a foreign language.

There was that earnest young clergyman, Tom Winters, announcing his decision to leave the church because he is "in love with a woman who is not my wife." Nobody told us who the other woman was.

Meanwhile, in Peyton Place hospital, his wife lay in bed with intravenous feeding tubes in her arm but every false eyelash in place, pleading for help in getting Tom back. Will Susan go back to the bottle if Tom persists in his plan?

In another hospital room there is poor Rodney Harrington — who last year was acquitted on a murder charge — lying on his stomach with his chin in a sling looking mournful while a famed neurosurgeon presses his spinal column and asks if he feels anything. He doesn't. What happened to Rodney? Will he ever walk again?

And so it went for 30 minutes. It will take at least two weeks of faithful viewing to catch up with all the new twists and turns in the story. It is easier and quicker with the daytime soaps. Those stories move at a slower pace and they usually explain as they go along.

NBC's summer "Music Hall" Wednesday night vividly illustrated the perils of inserting topical humor in programs taped far in advance of air time.

It was shot in June or early July. Now that it is fashionable for variety show hosts to toss few political darts in their opening monologue, Ed McMahon's script had a line about James Arness of "Gunsmoke" running for sheriff of Dodge City, and winning easily because his opponent was Richard Nixon.

Between the time the show's writer inserted the crack and the time of the broadcast, a lot of things occurred, including two political conventions. Today Nixon-loser jokes are out of style and have lost their humor.

Over-all, however, the summer shows of this year-round variety series have the advantage of being fresh programs, a nice change from reruns.

Another in the same category is CBS' "Dom De Luise Show." Both are nearing the end of their runs, and both tend to let their numbers — musical interludes and comedy sketches — run far too long.

De Luise, a talented funny man, has improved his style immensely over the months. He started out working so hard he even tired his home audience. Now he has slowed his pace and gained in comedy tempo.

Claim Miami Riots Planned Beforehand

Testimony Given During Inquest Into Slayings

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A police lieutenant testified Wednesday that rioting in Miami during the Republican National Convention was "mass, planned, criminal activity."

Lt. William P. McClure, a homicide investigator, made the charge in testimony at an inquest into the deaths of two Negroes shot by police during the violence. The deaths were ruled justifiable homicide.

John J. Austin, 29, and Moses Cannon, 23, were killed Aug. 8. Justice of the Peace Charles Snowden ruled they were shot while fleeing "after committing a felony of violence."

Disturbances occurred in three Negro business and residential districts in Miami. The focus was in Liberty City where the violence began Aug. 7.

"This was not civil disorder, not civil disobedience, not a group of boys being disobedient," McClure testified. "This was mass, planned, criminal activity."

McClure said the second day of violence began about 1 p.m. and then, "as though on signal, just after 4 o'clock, our officers reported being shot at six different localities along E2nd Street" in Liberty City.

"I saw a garbage can of rocks, and there was other evidence of stockpiling," McClure said.

"We got a call that a police car was taking gunfire," the lieutenant said. "We drove the gauntlet from 12th Avenue to 17th Avenue through the mob, a screaming mob of criminals. We were being pelted with rocks and firebombs — each one a felonious assault. There was looting, robbery and felonious assault — every crime in the book."

Buses Are Out, But Horses OK

ATASCADERO, Calif. (AP) — For pupils who live 10 miles from school or less, busing is out this year in the Atascadero Unified School District.

"We just can't afford it," Supt. Edward Holden said Wednesday. But he said free stabling will be provided to youngsters who ride horses to school.

THEIR TOWN IN RUBBLE — Two Iranian children on a hilltop look down on the rubble that once was their home town of Conabad. The nation counted more than 20,000 dead following the worst series of earthquakes in its history — 1,300 square miles devastated.

Russia Keeping Tight Rein On Czech Occupation Force

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

PRAGUE (AP) — Soviet GIs from Siberia and the Ukraine look at Prague's night spots with envy as they continue their occupation of the Czechoslovak capital.

"We aren't allowed to drink," said a captain in dark weather-stained khaki when foreigners offered him a small bottle of whiskey.

He also refused an invitation to dinner at one of Prague's excellent restaurants. "Not in this uniform," he said. "Unfortunately, we haven't any civilian clothes."

It was his way of being discreet. Probably no Czech would have shown his bitter anger over the Soviet invasion, but Soviet troops are under strict orders to do nothing that might lead to an incident with the submissive but still resentful population.

The Soviets are especially sensitive about their uniforms. Czechs have told them so often: "We'd be more than glad to welcome you as civilians, without weapons."

The Russians get such a cold shoulder from the Czechs that they welcome any normal civility.

In recent days there has been a more friendly response from some young Czechs, and some local girls have been seen fraternizing with the Soviet troops, undeterred by those whose heads were shaved by indignant patriots.

One of the chief contact points between Soviet soldiers and the people of Prague is the tank encampment in Vrchbilskeho Park, between the main railway station and St. Wenceslas Square, the center of the city.

Bored with the lack of activity, the Soviet soldiers welcome any opportunity for a friendly chat or even a sharp political argument.

Life isn't too comfortable in the park, in the heat and the rain, but the soldiers seem resigned.

NFL Eastern Picks Give Dallas, Cleveland 1st Places

Conference Has Power Clubs

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the two newcomers most likely to succeed with the Dallas Cowboys this fall could be the next Raymond Berry. The other is Raymond Berry.

That neither will be in Dallas' starting line-up is a tip-off on the relative prospects of the Cowboys and seven other Eastern Conference clubs in the upcoming National Football League season.

Dallas' three Capital Division rivals and the four Century Division contenders have undergone wholesale personnel changes since 1967. But the Cowboys, who came within 13 seconds of winning their first NFL title last Dec. 31 at Green Bay, will open with a solid set of returning young veterans—all of whom have been through two summit clashes with the Packers.

One of the handful of newcomers who have earned a spot on the Dallas roster is Dennis Homan, the All-American pass-catcher from Alabama. The Cowboys' No. 1 draft pick has the sure hands and deft feints that made Berry a record-setting Baltimore standout for 13 seasons.

But Homan will begin his pro career in the shadow of two of the NFL's finest receivers—Lance Rentzel and Bullet Bob Hayes.

Berry, who joined Tom Landry's Dallas coaching staff after winding up his playing career last winter, has been sharing pass-catching secrets with Hayes.

"When Berry gives Hayes two or three moves," says Landry, "there's no way you can cover him with one man."

And it appears from here that there's no way to stop the Cowboys from nailing the Eastern championship for the third straight year.

Here's how the conference races should wind up:

- Capitol Division
1. Dallas
 2. New York
 3. Washington
 4. Philadelphia
- Century Division
1. Cleveland
 2. St. Louis
 3. Pittsburgh
 4. New Orleans

Despite injuries to several key men, including quarterback Don Meredith, the Cowboys rode to the Capitol championship with a 9-5 mark last year, then humiliated Cleveland 52-14 in the Conference playoff before bowing to Green Bay 21-17 on Bart Starr's clock-beating one-yard sneak.

With Meredith directing a wide-open attack, Don Perkins and Dan Reeves grinding out yardage and the Doomsday Defense, led by mammoth Bob Lilly, certain to be better than ever, the Texas powerhouse could go all the way in '68.

New York and Washington figure to run neck-and-neck for the runner-up spot, but the Giants rate the nod because they figure to give scrambler Fran Tarkenton more support than Sonny Jurgensen can expect from the Redskins.

The Giants, on the upgrade since their disastrous cellar finish in 1966, helped themselves defensively with the acquisition of linebacker Tommy Crutcher, safety Bruce Maher and tackle Sam Silas in preseason trades.

The 'Skins' defense is erratic and Jurgensen, who set all-time records for pass attempts, completions and yardage last year, might have trouble getting untracked after undergoing surgery on his throwing arm and missing the exhibition campaign.

Philadelphia's tide hopes all but disappeared last month when quarterback Norm Snead suffered a broken leg on the first play of the opening exhibition. It's highly doubtful that either King Hill or John Huarze will be able to generate much offensive power. The Eagles also will miss breakaway threat Timmy Brown, dealt to Baltimore last spring.

Cleveland endured a stream of injuries, most of them to quarterback Frank Ryan, in winning the Century race last year. The Browns, who obtained a good backup quarterback, Bill Nelsen, from Pittsburgh, should have enough to repeat in their division and give a better account of themselves in a return match with Dallas for the conference crown.

Leroy Kelly, the NFL rushing king, and running mate Ernie Green give the Browns excellent offensive balance. Defensively, they must replace end Paul Wiggins and linebacker Johnny Brewer, who retired, and safety Ross Fichtner, who was released along with guard John Wooten, following a summer racial incident.

Racial unrest jolted St. Louis last year and Coach Charley Winner has cleaned house in an effort to restore unity. Half a dozen 1967 regulars have retired or moved on to other clubs, but the Cardinals will be no push-over, particularly on defense.

Quarterback Jim Hart, receivers Dave Williams and Jackie Smith and running back Johnny Roland spearhead the attack.

Pittsburgh, short of steady running backs, will depend heavily on young Kent Nix, Nelsen's quarterback successor, and a tough but inconsistent defense. Unless the Steelers' rebuilt offensive line holds together, they'll have trouble staying close to the Browns and Cards.

New Orleans' expansion Saints reeled off five exhibition victories before beginning their first NFL season then sputtered in regular play, but still won three games and packed the Sugar Bowl through the fall.

They might have difficulty matching their 1967 record, but quarterback Bill Kilmer could pull off a few upsets . . . if the Saints' linemen give him more protection than they did a year ago.

But Homan will begin his pro career in the shadow of two of the NFL's finest receivers—Lance Rentzel and Bullet Bob Hayes.

Tiant Wins 19th; Tribe Topples Angles, 9-5

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Luis Tiant's Cleveland bullpen buddies gave him a lift to the front door of the 20 Game Winners' Club. Baltimore's Dave McNally got there under his own power.

Four Cleveland relievers combined to preserve Tiant's 19th victory Wednesday night as the Indians subdued the California Angels 9-5 after blowing a seven-run lead.

McNally nailed his 19th triumph with a fourth inning home run as the Orioles trimmed the New York Yankees 6-3.

Carl Yastrzemski grabbed the American League batting lead with a four-hit spree in Boston's 10-2 romp over Minnesota; Willie Horton's tie-breaking single in the eighth inning sparked first place Detroit to a 4-2 victory over Oakland and the Chicago White Sox blanked Washington 3-0 in 14 innings.

Tiant, 19-9, stopped the Angels on one hit until the sixth, when Roger Repoz' two-run homer touched off a four-run rally that drove him from the mound. Sonny Siebert, Rob Gardner and Horacio Pina all came out of the bullpen before the inning was over and Vicente Romo got the last two outs after Pina faltered in the ninth, preserving Tiant's first victory since Aug. 10.

Joe Azcue drove in four Cleveland runs with a pair of singles and Vern Fuller collected three hits and scored three runs. McNally, who has reeled off 11 straight victories since the All-Star break for a 19-8 mark, smacked his third homer of the season after the Yankees had closed the gap to 4-3 on consecutive homers by Bill Robinson and Andy Kosco in the top of the fourth.

Elrod Hendricks, who singled home one of three Baltimore runs in the second, doubled and scored an insurance marker in the sixth.

Yastrzemski boosted his batting average to .291 by swatting three singles and his 18th homer in the Red Sox' victory at Minnesota. Right-hander Gary Bell checked the Twins on six hits and broke a 2-2 tie with a sacrifice fly in the seventh before Boston sewed it up with six unearned runs in the eighth.

Rose Leads 8-3 Win over Cards

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pete Rose is ruining his image.

Determined to become the first $100,000 player who doesn't pitch or hit home runs for a living, Rose has broken out in an unaccustomed display of power. The Cincinnati spark plug rapped his second home run in as many days and 10th of the season Wednesday night helping the Reds halt a six game losing streak with an 8-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

In other National League action, Los Angeles shut out Philadelphia 3-0, and Chicago split a doubleheader with San Francisco, winning 7-6 before losing 5-4.

Rose led off the game with his home run and then reverted to his normal approach with two singles, raising his league leading batting average to .348.

The three hits gave him 181 for the season—19 shy of his goal of 200. He has 25 games to go and if he hits the target, it will be the third time in the last four years he has done it.

Rose's 200 target has been made more difficult this season by a broken thumb which cost him 13 games in July. Nevertheless, he leads Pittsburgh's Matty Alou by 11 points in the batting race and is one of only four batters in the major leagues hitting more than .300 in this year of the pitcher.

Johnny Bench had a two-run homer and Leo Cardenas and Lee May also drove in two runs apiece with key hits for the Reds.

Don Sutton pitched his first shutout of the season, throttling Philadelphia on three hits as the Dodgers defeated the Phillies.

Sutton struck out 12—a career high—and never was in real trouble, winning his seventh game.

The Dodgers bunched three singles for a run in the fourth and then added two insurance runs in the eighth and ninth with triples by Willie Davis and Bill Sudakis the key hits.

Don Kessinger and Billy Williams each rapped two-run homers helping Chicago past San Francisco in the first game of their doubleheader. For Kessinger, it was his first home run in three seasons. Williams' shot was his 24th of the year.

Ernie Banks tagged a three-run shot in the nightcap for the Cubs but the Giants rallied with three runs in the eighth—two on Willie Mays' single—and one in the ninth on singles by Jack Hiatt and Bobby Bonds to gain the split.

PCC Swim Meet Results Told

Lackey was first in the 12 to 14-year-old back stroke, with Gillespie and Brown finishing second and third respectively. John Stout was a double winner, taking the freestyle for 11-year-olds as well as the back stroke. Jeff Spires was second in the free style and Bruce Brudzinski third.

In the back stroke Brudzinski was second and Spires third. Betsy Schenck won the 8-9 year old division of the back stroke. Jeff Davies was second and Dan Stout third.

Winning the girls 10 to 11-year-old freestyle and also the back stroke was Lisa Shockley. Leigh Hritz was second in freestyle and Linda Davies third. In the backstroke, Miss Hritz finished second again while Molly Hamrick was third.

The boys' ten-year-old freestyle was won by Tod Hunter. Jeff Lackey was second and John Berlin third.

Betsy Schenck won the 9-year-old freestyle. Jeff Davies was second and Clark Huskey third.

Danny Stout won the 7 to 8-year-old free style. Marty Schenck was second and Ben Brian third.

TV Coach Kidwell IL Pennant Looks to Wehrle Between Jets And Mud Hens For 1st Victory

Teays Valley's new grid coach, Dick Kidwell, is hoping for a win in his first game with visiting Bishop Wehrle Friday. "We have the material to win if we can start the season right," the new grid mentor believes.

With only four seniors starting, he has a young group with which to work. There are two sophomores bidding for defensive starting assignments and four hoping to crack the starting lineup on offense.

In addition, Kidwell and his staff have sophomore candidates at practically every position on the team.

THE coaching staff has had a chance to scout Bishop Wehrle in a pre season scrimmage. The team was 0-9 last year in its first year of varsity competition.

This year, Wehrle has a new head coach. They run from a wing split and like to pass a lot. They like to run the option. Defensively they use a standard 5-4 Oklahoma.

Offensive starters for Teays Valley are Mike Schiff, center;

Jim Partee, Chuck Jackson, guards; Don Stir, Rick Stewart, tackles; Steve Hines, John Tucker, ends; Mark Leatherwood, quarterback; Bob Tucker, Champ Henson, who will share the fullback slot; Ron Bell and Dan Hicks, halfbacks.

On defense, the ends will be Mark Brinker and Bob Tucker. Dean Forsom and Stewart will be the tackles and Don Stir the middle guard.

Chuck Jackson and Leatherwood will be the interior linebackers. Jerry Nichols and John Tucker will be the cornerbacks; Dan Hicks, Ron Bell and Gale Sawyer will be the safeties.

IN scrimmages, Teays Valley has lost to Fairfield Union three touchdowns to one and to Bishop Ready by a score of 14-8.

Kidwell states that Ready is a better team than Wehrle. Kenny Parsons, a regular last year will miss the first game with a groin injury. Ed McCord is also a doubtful starter. Jeff Helsner, a sophomore, is expected to play a great deal for the Vikings.

The battle for the International League pennant has been reduced to a two-way scrap between the two Ohio rivals, the Toledo Mud Hens and Columbus Jets.

Columbus pulled to within a game of the lead Wednesday night with a 4-3 victory over Richmond while the Mud Hens had the night off.

The two teams head into the season's final series—Toledo at Rochester for four games in four nights, the Jets at home against fourth-place Jacksonville for four successive doubleheaders.

Rochester nailed down a spot in the postseason playoffs with a 4-3 victory over Syracuse, but Louisville swept a twin bill from Jacksonville for the second straight night, whipping the Mets 2-1 in 10 innings and 6-2.

Singles in the 10th inning by Al Oliver and Elvio Jimenez and a fielders' choice accounted for the winning Columbus run. Oliver earlier had hit his second inside-the-park homer in two nights.

Field Down To Five in Tournament

Six tilts were played in the Circleville Slow Pitch Softball Tournament Wednesday at Ted Lewis Park and the field is now narrowed down to five contenders.

Remaining in the tourney are CFM East of Columbus, Newark, Remy's Chrysler-Plymouth of Waverly, Columbus Pushovers and Francis Rest of Chillicothe. Next games will be 5 p.m. Saturday at the park.

Remy's used an eight-run second inning to tromp Tom Jones Insurance of Millersport 13-7. L. Graves homered to lead a 17 hit attack for the winners.

Pushovers also had a big inning, marking seven in the first and holding on to a 12-7 win over Local 423 of Columbus. J. Banks hit safely in three of four trips and H. Shaefer went two for three for the winners.

NEWARK used a big inning to dump Remy's, 14-6. The Newark team scored seven runs in the bottom of the second. Dave Fraeich and Paul Queen homered to pace a 17 hit barrage by Newark. L. Teeters went three for three for Remy's.

Remy's, one of the busiest teams in the tourney, then turned the trick on Local 423, bouncing them out, 18-12. L. Graves homered twice and T. Sautter and B. Cool once for the winners. John Lewis homered for Local 423.

CFM East bopped Francis Rest, 20-6, in the final game. J. P. Justice homered twice for the winners. B. Smith, B. Swords and P. Hart homered for CFM East. Teeters, Buchan and Gibson poked round trippers for Francis Rest.

Albright's Rally Promise: 'Nobody Will Run over Us'

"Nobody will run over us this year," Mark Albright, Logan Elm football coach, told fans during the first pep rally of the year at the high school.

Albright introduced his squad and coaching staff during the rally, which featured the Braves marching band and cheerleaders.

Albright said there is a lack of depth on his 27 member squad, which includes eight freshmen, but the starters have performed well in pre-season scrimmages.

He touted the Braves' defense as being especially good. For Friday night's opener with Amanda-Clearcreek, there are some doubtful starters.

BYRON Sykes, a sophomore end, may not be able to go full speed in the first game. Should he not start, he will be replaced by freshman candidate Brad Barr.

Senior guard Dave Reichelderfer is a doubtful defensive starter because of a sore shoulder, but should be available for offensive action. Danny Fausnaugh, junior halfback, has been slowed by a leg injury and may not play in the first tilt. He has not been used in any contact action this week in practice.

Should he miss the tilt, sophomore transfer student from Cincinnati, Steve Curtis, will receive the starting assignment. Curtis also serves the Braves as backup quarterback.

The line that Albright hopes to start includes Dan Ankrom and Byron Sykes at ends; Roger Evans and Ralph Roby, two juniors, at tackle; Reichelderfer and Steve Sykes, both seniors, at guards. Junior Mark Kempton is the team's center.

In the backfield, Albright hopes to start the veteran Tom Seimers at quarterback, Mike Weaver at fullback, Fausnaugh and Rick Lear at halfbacks.

JOHN Weaver, one of the reserve backs the coaches had been counting on to spell the halfbacks, sprained an ankle Wednesday in practice and may not be ready to go in Friday's tilt.

Other candidates on the squad include senior Vic Hunt, juniors Larry Pusey, guard; Jim Younkun, tackle; sophomores Kenneth Dean, guard; Charles Karshner, guard; John Stant, guard; Dale Valentine, tackle; freshmen Don Dean, Alex Jones and Steve Jones, all ends; Steve Pusey, center; Wirtie Teets, back.

Albright knows absolutely nothing about Amanda. A power in the Fairfield County League last year, the Aces lost the Best brothers, Will and Paul, whose parents moved to the Circleville district, as well as several senior starters.

They also have a new head football coach, Jerry L. Watton, who succeeds Jim Morrison.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heath Wingate, a center from Bowling Green was traded Wednesday by the Washington Redskins to the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League. The Redskins will receive an undisclosed draft choice in return.

TV Coach Kidwell IL Pennant Looks to Wehrle Between Jets And Mud Hens

Teays Valley's new grid coach, Dick Kidwell, is hoping for a win in his first game with visiting Bishop Wehrle Friday. "We have the material to win if we can start the season right," the new grid mentor believes.

With only four seniors starting, he has a young group with which to work. There are two sophomores bidding for defensive starting assignments and four hoping to crack the starting lineup on offense. In addition, Kidwell and his staff have sophomore candidates at practically every position on the team.

THE coaching staff has had a chance to scout Bishop Wehrle in a pre season scrimmage. The team was 0-9 last year in its first year of varsity competition.

This year, Wehrle has a new head coach. They run from a wing split and like to pass a lot. They like to run the option.

Defensively they use a standard 5-4 Oklahoma. Offensive starters for Teays Valley are Mike Schiff, center;

Jim Partee, Chuck Jackson, guards; Don Stir, Rick Stewart, tackles; Steve Hines, John Tucker, ends; Mark Leatherwood, quarterback; Bob Tucker, Champ Henson, who will share the fullback slot; Ron Bell and Dan Hicks, halfbacks.

On defense, the ends will be Mark Brinker and Bob Tucker. Dean Forsom and Stewart will be the tackles and Don Stir the middle guard.

Chuck Jackson and Leatherwood will be the interior linebackers. Jerry Nichols and John Tucker will be the cornerbacks; Dan Hicks, Ron Bell and Gale Sawyer will be the safeties.

IN scrimmages, Teays Valley has lost to Fairfield Union three touchdowns to one and to Bishop Ready by a score of 14-8. Kidwell states that Ready is a better team than Wehrle.

Kenny Parsons, a regular last year will miss the first game with a groin injury. Ed McCord is also a doubtful starter. Jeff Helsler, a sophomore, is expected to play a great deal for the Vikings.

It sounds like the married men against the single men at the office picnic, Denver University scored four in the ninth to beat Air Force Academy 33-29 in a baseball marathon in which the teams collected 57 hits in nearly five hours of scrambling. Denver used seven pitchers, the Cadets five.

Albright's Rally Promise: 'Nobody Will Run over Us'

"Nobody will run over us this year," Mark Albright, Logan Elm football coach, told fans during the first pep rally of the year at the high school.

Albright introduced his squad and coaching staff during the rally, which featured the Braves marching band and cheerleaders.

Albright said there is a lack of depth on his 27 member squad, which includes eight freshmen, but the starters have performed well in pre-season scrimmages.

He touted the Braves' defense as being especially good. For Friday night's opener with Amanda-Clearcreek, there are some doubtful starters.

BYRON Sykes, a sophomore end, may not be able to go full speed in the first game. Should he not start, he will be replaced by freshman candidate Brad Barr.

Senior guard Dave Reichelderfer is a doubtful defender.

Mike Quarry Out Of Olympic Trials

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Young Mike Quarry, brother of professional fighter Jerry Quarry, was among those eliminated Wednesday night in quarterfinal action of the U.S. Olympic boxing trials here.

The 17-year-old middleweight from Anaheim, Calif., whose brother is a heavyweight contender, lost a decision in a free-swinging battle to Martin Berzowski, the Air Force triltist from Novato, Calif.

Remaining in the tourney are CFM East of Columbus, Newark, Remy's Chrysler, Plymouth of Waverly, Columbus Pushovers and Francis Rest of Chillicothe. Next games will be 5 p.m. Saturday at the park.

Remy's used an eight-run second inning to tromp Tom Jones Insurance of Millersport 13-7. L. Graves homered to lead a 17 hit attack for the winners.

Pushovers also had a big inning, marking seven in the first and holding on to a 12-7 win over Local 423 of Columbus. J. Banks hit safely in three of four trips and H. Shaefenaker went two for three for the winners.

NEWARK used a big inning to dump Remy's, 14-6. The Newark team scored seven runs in the bottom of the second. Dave Fraeich and Paul Queen homered to pace a 17 hit barrage by Newark. L. Teeters went three for three for Remy's.

Remy's, one of the busiest teams in the tourney, then turned the trick at Local 423, bouncing them out, 18-12. L. Graves homered twice and T. Sautter and B. Cool once for the winners. John Lewis homered for Local 423.

CFM East bopped Francis Rest, 20-6, in the final game. J. P. Justice homered twice for the winners. B. Smith, B. Swords and P. Hart homered for CFM East. Teeters, Buchanan and Gibson poked round trippers for Francis Rest.

sive starter because of a sore shoulder, but should be available for offensive action. Danny Fausnaugh, junior halfback, has been slowed by a leg injury and may not play in the first tilt. He has not been used in any contact action this week in practice.

Should he miss the tilt, sophomore transfer student from Cincinnati, Steve Curtis, will receive the starting assignment. Curtis also serves the Braves as backup quarterback.

The line that Albright hopes to start includes Dan Ankrom and Byron Sykes at ends; Roger Evans and Ralph Roby, two juniors, at tackle; Reichelderfer and Steve Sykes, both seniors, at guards. Junior Mark Kempton is the team's center.

In the backfield, Albright hopes to start the veteran Tom Seimers at quarterback, Mike Weaver at fullback, Fausnaugh and Rick Lear at halfbacks.

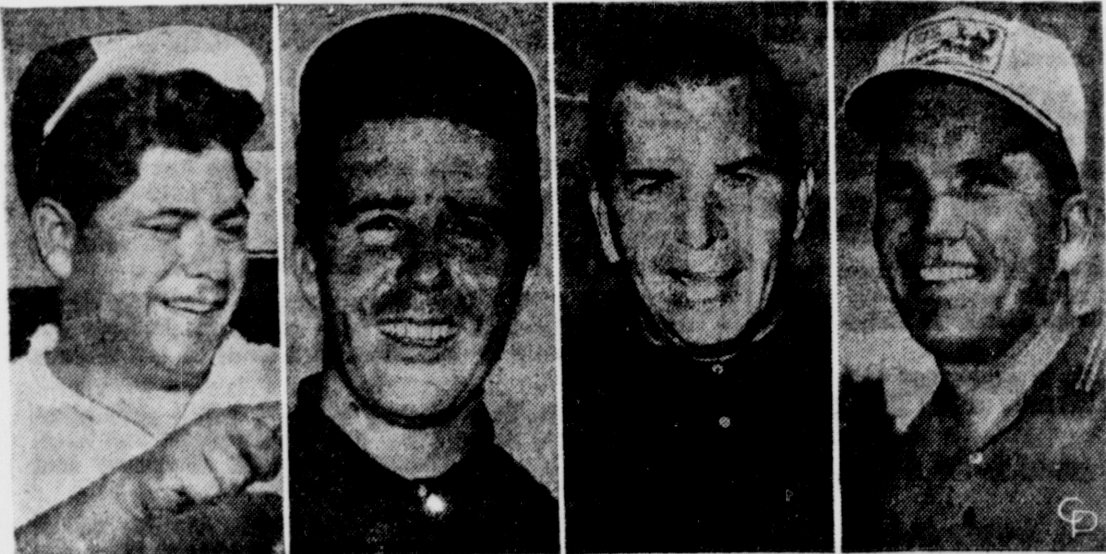

JOHN Weaver, one of the reserve backs the coaches had been counting on to spell the halfbacks, sprained an ankle Wednesday in practice and may not be ready to go in Friday's tilt.

Other candidates on the squad include senior Vic Hunt, juniors Larry Pusey, guard; Jim Younkin, tackle; sophomores Kenneth Dean, guard; Charles Karshner, guard; John Stant, guard; Dale Valentine, tackle; freshmen Don Dean, Alex Jones and Steve Jones, all ends; Steve Pusey, center; Wirtie Teets, back.

Albright knows absolutely nothing about Amanda. A power in the Fairfield County League last year, the Aces lost the Best brothers, Will and Paul, whose parents moved to the Circleville district, as well as several senior starters. They also have a new head football coach, Jerry L. Watton, who succeeds Jim Morrison.

Bengals Kick Off Season Friday Against San Diego

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
The new Cincinnati Bengals, who did some growling in their last two exhibition games, will invade the jungle of regular season professional play for the first time Friday night.

Paul Brown's Bengals will kick off the regular American Football League season when they play the Chargers at San Diego. Kickoff for the game to be televised nationally by NBC is 8:30 p.m., EDT.

The game is one of three regular season games that will be played during a busy weekend schedule, which also will have two interleague exhibition games and one AFL and seven National Football League pre-season games. Rookie Dewey Warren and John Stofa are expected to share the quarterbacking for the Bengals, who lost their first three exhibition games before beating the NFL Pittsburgh Steelers and the AFL New York Jets.

Cincinnati's main chore in their first play-for-keeps encounter will be to stop the passing of John Hadl and the catching of Lance Alworth.

The other two AFL regular season games have Boston at Buffalo Sunday and Kansas City at Houston Monday night. Both games will be televised nationally by NBC.

The two final interleague exhibitions—the AFL leads the series 11-10—pits NFL Atlanta against the AFL Dolphins at Miami and the Jets against NFL Detroit at Cleveland Saturday night.

Minnesota meets New Orleans at Shreveport, La., St. Louis plays at Chicago and San Francisco is at Los Angeles in NFL pre-season action Friday night, while Philadelphia meets the New York Giants at Princeton, N.J., Saturday afternoon and Baltimore is at Dallas in a nationally televised (CBS) game. Green Bay is at Cleveland and Pittsburgh is at Washington Saturday night.

The Green Bay-Cleveland games follows the Jets-Detroit contest as part of a doubleheader. Denver plays Oakland at Portland, Ore., in the AFL exhibition Saturday night.

In trades Wednesday, Detroit obtained receiver Billy Gambrell from NFL St. Louis for a future draft choice, the New York Giants acquired quarterback Gary Lane from Cleveland for a draft choice and Washington sent center Heath Wingate to Atlanta for a draft pick.

Among players cut Wednesday were defensive end Larry Stephens, a nine-year veteran, by Dallas; flanker Lawrence Elkins, its No. 1 draft choice in 1965, by Houston, and punter Jon Kilgore, a four-year veteran, and running back Jim Stiger, by Los Angeles.

In a player-club dispute, veteran halfback Joe Aver walked out of the Miami camp as a free agent after the Dolphins refused to pay him $500 and reportedly offered him a spot on the taxi squad.

Other players called for an immediate clarification of the team's salary policies, while Coach George Wilson accused Auer of taking the play book with him, an action that could bring a $500 fine.

It sounds like the married men against the single men at the office picnic, Denver University scored four in the ninth to beat Air Force Academy 33-29 in a baseball marathon in which the teams collected 57 hits in nearly five hours of scrambling. Denver used seven pitchers, the Cadets five.

Teacher Strikes Postpone Openings Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Teachers striking over salary and other grievances have postponed the opening of the fall school term for thousands of pupils around the nation.

In Michigan, 67,700 youngsters continued their summer vacations as 12 districts remained closed. Teachers in another 35 districts agreed to work while contract talks continue.

The New York City public school system with 1.1-million students was threatened with a repeat of last fall's teachers' strike as the head of the teachers union said he would recommend a walkout Monday.

Last ditch negotiations between teachers and the school board continued in Philadelphia to avert a strike in the 276,000-pupil system which starts classes Friday.

A teacher boycott in East St. Louis, Ill. was in its second week with 23,300 pupils affected. Negotiations Wednesday were fruitless as the 900-teacher union sought higher pay and a formal working agreement.

In Madison, Ill., where some 35 of the town's 3,000 pupils picketed to get back in class, the school board went to court in an effort to return teachers to their jobs.

About 100 teachers submitted mass resignations which the school board refused to honor. The board sought a circuit court judgment to determine if they could hire replacements for teachers who refused to report.

There were 10,000 school children out of class in East Chicago, Ind., public schools with 500 teachers striking for higher pay, smaller classes and a guarantee of a textbook for every child.

The 500 teachers in the Clarksville-Montgomery County, Tenn., school system walked out

Tuesday night to protest budget cuts. Registration for 14,000 pupils—many dependents of servicemen at the Ft. Campbell, Ky., Army base—was set for Friday.

Darien, Conn., teachers voted to stay away from classes again today to support demand for higher pay. Affected were about 5,200 pupils in the city's 10 public schools.

East Haven, Conn., schools with 6,000 pupils were hit by a strike with the dispute reportedly centering on inclusion of teachers' families in medical insurance.

Meanwhile, U.S. B52 bombers dropped tons of bombs on suspected positions of two North Vietnamese regiments reported to have moved to within 38 miles north of Saigon from jungled hideouts along the Cambodian border near the district town of Loc Ninh. Earlier, the B52s hit suspected stores of ammunition and rice for these troops.

Say Off-Duty Police Part Of White Mob

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor

John V. Lindsay has ordered an immediate report on charges that off-duty policemen were among a group of 200 white men who attacked about a dozen Black Panthers and white sympathizers in the Brooklyn Criminal Court building.

The clash took place Wednesday in a sixth floor corridor outside a packed courtroom where three Black Panthers had a hearing on charges of beating three policemen Aug. 20. Three persons including a white girl were injured.

Witnesses said the group of white men—some known to newsmen as policemen—who had been unable to get into the courtroom slowly converged on the smaller group and then suddenly rushed them.

Blackjacks were seen swinging down through the air during the melee which was broken up by uniformed officers assigned to the building. No arrests were made.

David Brothers, leader of the Brooklyn Panthers, and Thomas McCreary, a member of the militant group, charged that their attackers were members of the Law Enforcement Group of New York, a militant group of police officers.

Several of the attackers wore the presidential campaign button of George C. Wallace, former Alabama governor.

Mayor Lindsay ordered Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary to have a complete report on the incident.

In the hearing Judge George Rader turned down a request for reduction of bail for the defendants and ordered the assault charges referred to the grand jury.

Wednesday Session Of Court Is Light

Wednesday's session of Circleville Municipal Court was moderately light as a total of 12 cases were called and completed.

Paul Saunders, 26, Knollwood Village, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding 45 miles an hour in a 35 mile zone.

Marion Giffen, 54, Route 1, Amanda, failed to dim his headlights for an oncoming car and forfeited a $19 bond.

Ten out-of-county offenders forfeited a total of $261 in fines and bonds.

Bill To Permit HHH-Nixon Television Debates Stalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The odds are against passage of a bill that would open the way for television debates between the Democratic and Republican presidential candidates, says a backer of the measure.

Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., a member of the House Commerce Committee, said Wednesday time is working against the bill. It would help if the heads of the two tickets gave it public support, he added.

The bill, already passed by the Senate, would exempt the television networks from federal laws requiring that all legally qualified candidates for president get equal radio and television time, aside from news reports and commercials. But, said Van Deerlin, "the odds are about 2 1/2 to 1 against it now."

Van Deerlin said public support for the bill from Democratic nominee Hubert H. Humphrey and Republican Richard M. Nixon could help free the bill from the commerce committee. Their support would have to be combined with promises from the networks of separate time for third-party candidate George C. Wallace, Van Deerlin said.

"Unequivocal endorsements now by your candidates should give the proposal the bipartisan impetus it needs to assure its success in the House," Van Deerlin wired Humphrey and Nixon aides. He suggested to a reporter time is an important factor.

The divided House committee, which earlier put off action until after the political conventions, is scheduled to meet on the issue Wednesday.

Rep. John F. Moss of California, fifth-ranking Democrat on the committee, said his opposition to the plan remains firm. He already has said he would carry the fight to the House floor if necessary.

Slate Week Of Protests

CHICAGO (AP) — A student antiwar group has scheduled a week of demonstrations throughout the nation beginning Oct. 21.

The Student Mobilization Committee to end the War in Vietnam said Wednesday the dates were chosen to coincide with antiwar protests in Japan and Britain.

Plans drawn at a Chicago conference over the Labor Day weekend call for attempts to encourage American servicemen to join the demonstrations against the Vietnam war. The mobilization committee said students from about 60 colleges and 20 high schools across the country attended the weekend meetings.

Richard Hill, a coordinator for the committee, said the group's objective is the immediate withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam.

Teacher Strikes Postpone Openings Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Teachers striking over salary and other grievances have postponed the opening of the fall school term for thousands of pupils around the nation.

In Michigan, 67,700 youngsters continued their summer vacations as 12 districts remained closed. Teachers in another 35 districts agreed to work while contract talks continue.

The New York City public school system with 1.1-million students was threatened with a repeat of last fall's teachers' strike as the head of the teachers union said he would recommend a walkout Monday.

Last ditch negotiations between teachers and the school board continued in Philadelphia to avert a strike in the 276,000-pupil system which starts classes Friday.

A teacher boycott in East St. Louis, Ill. was in its second week with 23,300 pupils affected. Negotiations Wednesday were fruitless as the 900-teacher union sought higher pay and a formal working agreement.

In Madison, Ill., where some 35 of the town's 3,000 pupils picketed to get back in class, the school board went to court in an effort to return teachers to their jobs.

About 100 teachers submitted mass resignations which the school board refused to honor. The board sought a circuit court judgment to determine if they could hire replacements for teachers who refused to report.

There were 10,000 school children out of class in East Chicago, Ind., public schools with 500 teachers striking for higher pay, smaller classes and a guarantee of a textbook for every child.

The 500 teachers in the Clarksville-Montgomery County, Tenn., school system walked out

Tuesday night to protest budget cuts. Registration for 14,000 pupils—many dependents of servicemen at the Ft. Campbell, Ky., Army base—was set for Friday.

Darien, Conn., teachers voted to stay away from classes again today to support demand for higher pay. Affected were about 5,200 pupils in the city's 10 public schools.

East Haven, Conn., schools with 6,000 pupils were hit by a strike with the dispute reportedly centering on inclusion of teachers' families in medical insurance.
